Lower Price Props Voted For Farmers

Last Stronghold Of Farm Bloc Approves 29-0

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Agriculture Committee, last stronghold of the once invincible farm bloc, capitulated Friday to Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's demand for lower farm price supports.

The committee voted 28-0 to approve a bill to permit lower price props for cotton, rice and corn, three of the so-called six "basic" crops.

Democratic committee leaders, all Southerners, had no choice but to surrender. They were under pressure from grower and textile interests to produce a new law that would head off sharp planting cutbacks scheduled for cotton next year.

Vetoed One

Additionally, President Eisenhower vetoed one farm bill earlier this year and the House refused to consider a second bill which did not include concessions to Benson in the form of lower supports.

The bill approved by the committee called for price props only slightly higher than the administration - endorsed bill which the Senate passed last week.

The biggest change in the Senate bill related to corn. It provided that lower price props for corn could go into force only if approved by a majority of commercial growers voting in a referendum next December.

The new bill will be rushed to the House floor for approval Monday under a procedure which will limit debate and bar amendments.

Predicts Passage

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N. C.) predicted it would pass. He termed it "far better than the Senate bill."

Like the Senate bill, the measure after an interim two year period would provide alternate support "floors" for cotton and rice under which price props could be set below the present legal minimum of 75 per cent of parity.

During the interim in 1959 and 1960, cotton growers would have a choice between two different support and planting allotment programs.

If they elected to accept moderate planting reductions based on a 16-million-acre national allot-

Anti-Recession Loan Measure Killed By House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House decided Friday inflation is becoming more threatening than recession and narrowly killed a Democratic bill to provide two billion dollars in anti-recession loans for local public works projects.

Splitting largely along party lines, the House refused even to consider the measure although Democratic supporters had agreed in advance to tone it down. The roll call vote was 187 to 173 against consideration.

A one-billion-dollar version of the bill was approved by the Senate last spring as part of the Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson's anti-recession program. The House Banking Committee upped the loan fund to two billion dollars and lowered the interest rate.

The defeated measure would have authorized low-interest, 50-year loans for such community facilities, as streets, parkways, parking lots, airports, water and sewage plants, public hospitals and nursing homes.

Other congressional news:

Social Security—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), a member of the Senate Finance Committee, predicted the Senate will act before adjournment on a bill to raise Social Security benefits and taxes. But the form the Senate bill will take was unclear. The House passed a bill Thursday to increase benefits of more than 11 million persons by seven per cent and raise the taxes being paid by 75 million workers and their bosses.

Standards—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) introduced a four-point bill to require top federal officials, senators, congressmen and candi-

Dr. Green was removed from the mountain, one of the highest in Colorado, by Air Force helicopter and flown here Friday night.

BY SHAPELY BUSINESSWOMAN

Threat To Ruin Looks Is Defied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A shapely blonde businesswoman defied an underworld threat to "ruin" her good looks Friday and told Senate rackets investigators about alleged union dirty work in the Detroit industrial laundry business.

The witness, Mrs. Nancy Dawson, accused Joseph Lehr, a competitor, of giving her one warning against testifying. Lehr, who denied it and called her "mad at everybody, was accused of lying and threatened with perjury action.

Admitted Help

Lehr admitted getting help from an ex-convict official of the Teamsters Union to compete against rivals of the Star Coverall Supply Co., which he partly owns.

But he denied being part of any Teamster plot to use picket lines and threats to pressure auto agencies into sending laundry to his firm.

Mrs. Dawson testified that when she had threatened to sue Star Coverall for taking one such account from her, Lehr came around and promised to find other business for her. She said she refused.

Denied Charge

Lehr denied Mrs. Dawson's charge that he threatened she would get a "letter" if she testified. She indicated she thought he meant a "black hand" letter from the underworld's Mafia terror society.

Lehr admitted that the Teamster official, Herman Kierdorf, had introduced him to nine auto dealers. But he swore: 'I did the selling. I did the dealing."

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) accused Lehr of "perjuring himself" and ordered the transcript sent to the Justice Department for possible prosecution. Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy flatly told Lehr: "You're not telling the truth."

Lehr said he had asked Kierdorf to help him "fight back" against his competitors' trade association. He maintained they had hired private detectives to trail his company's trucks.

One automobile dealer, Dawson Taylor, said the teamsters didn't even press him for a contract to

Talks Man Out Of Death Jump; Others Failed

NEW YORK (AP)—An electrician, with plenty of troubles himself, talked a grief-weary man from plunging to his death from the George Washington Bridge Friday.

Several policemen and a priest failed to persuade Edward Madden, 28, an Erie Railroad laborer, homeless and separated from his wife, to come down from a girder of the Manhattan tower of the bridge.

Homer K. Wright, 45, of Saddle Brook, N.J., a Port Authority electrician, asked permission to go up in the tower elevator and try to talk Madden out of jumping.

"Look, mister," Wright said to the man clinging to the girder, "I know what trouble is. My boy has had an open heart since he was a baby. He can't play with the other kids. He can't do what they do. Do you know what that means to a father?

"I know what you are thinking now. I've thought of jumping off the bridge mysel. But that wouldn't have helped the boy. And now I think we'll save him. He's going to have an operation. Maybe it will work. I pray to God it will work. Things get better. You must have hope."

"I have no hope," Madden said. "Catherine, she's my wife, we've been separated for a year. I have no place to live. I have no children. What do I have to live for?"

And so they talked for more than half an hour, just the two men alone on a girder 450 feet above the busy stream of traffic.

Finally, Madden moved slowly

TIME ON THEIR HANDS

Youth Crime Higher In Summer Months

When school closes in May, youngsters and teenagers are left with time on their hands. The police records bear that out.

James C. Kelly, Monroe Chief of Police, pointed to a sharp upsurge in juvenile crime activity during summer months yesterday. He released figures showing that 48 felony cases committed by 32 juveniles were cleared up during July.

"That was more than in any other month in the past two years Kelly stated.

He listed the following cases as cleared during July: 16 burglaries involving 10 teenagers; three attempted burglaries committed by two youths; 18 theft cases in which 18 juveniles were implicated; the theft of nine automobiles by one teenage boy; and one case of aggravated battery involving a juvenile.

When contacted last night, Ouachita Parish Juvenile Officer Buster Crowley said "July has always been the heaviest month of the year for juvenile offenses every summer, it's about like this."

He went on to explain that the number of crimes solved last month by the Monroe police department had not all occurred during July.

"Some of the offenses go back as far as 1957. Concerted activity by the police department resulted in the proper boys being taken in custody, and they admitted the offenses," Crowley pointed out.

The juvenile officer said that every summer, when school is out, more youthful offenses occur. "Last year, the month of July was double over any other month's criminal activities by juveniles during the year. It runs that way everywhere" he mentioned.

Greeks Ambush British Patrol, One Man Killed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Greek Cypriot extremists ambushed a British army patrol early Friday in an eye-for-an-eye attempt to avenge the death of two Greeks shot by soldiers Thursday.

One British soldier was injured, but the return fire killed one of the extremists before his comrades fled.

The ambush, following orders by Greek extremist leader Col. George Grivas demanding a British life for every Greek killed by the British security forces, apparently was to avenge the death of two Greeks killed in Famagusta Thursday.

They were among a dozen Cypriots killed in the past 24 hours.

The EOKA extremists opened fire with machine guns and shotguns on the soldiers, who were riding in a truck near the southern town of Larnaca.

The soldiers immediately ran to cover and returned the fire. One of the ambushers was killed and the rest fled, leaving a shotgun and an unexploded bomb.

The British immediately imposed a total curfew on the nearby village of Troulli and searched the area for hidden weapons.

The ambush occurred shortly after midnight just a few hours after fervent appeals for an end to the bloodshed were made by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis.

It was one of several violent attacks made during the day.

Other terrorists set fire to the Manor House School at Famagusta, where sons of government officials and British army officers attend; fired the British families shop at Famagusta, and set fire to a Greek-owned bicycle shop in the Turkish quarter of Nicosia.

Fantastic Story Behind Nudist Ring Is Revealed

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Don Badeaux, 34-year-old brother of police Sgt. Hubert Badeaux, told Friday the fantastic story behind the international nudist and "degenerate" ring which his brother broke.

The ring, with headquarters in New Orleans, was disclosed this week to have members in nations throughout the world.

Sgt. Badeaux, known in New Orleans for his investigation of communist activities, asked his brother to act as an undercover agent for more than a year to help gather evidence to smash the ring.

Delayed

Announcement of the break-up of the vice ring was delayed, Badeaux said until he had the two top leaders behind bars: Louis Stewart of New Orleans, and pornographic photographer James G. Brock of Valparaiso, Fla.

The vice-hunt sergeant even induced Stewart to live at his mother's home so that he could monitor telephone conversations and obtain the names of Stewart's friends and other evidence.

Evidence from a preliminary examination shows that persons from New Zealand, Saudi Arabia, Mexico, Canada, France, British Guiana, and Havana, Cuba, participated in "orgies" held in New Orleans in addition to similar "parties" held in those countries.

Don Badeaux is a New Orleans hair dresser and the following is his story of his participation in the investigation.

Sgt. Badeaux also talked Stewart into giving up a trunkful of incriminating evidence and into going to the third district police station on his own to be booked for obscenity.

Don Badeaux says:

"I didn't especially want to get into this. But Hubie told me it was important He said I could do an important service to the community. So I did it."

Don said he wrote for information about nudists and later joined the Three Lakes Nudist Club in St. Tammany across Lake Pontchartrain to meet the other members and obtain the names which he funneled to his policeman brother.

"I couldn't believe my eyes when Hubie showed me the evidence he had gotten from Stewart. He said he knew Stewart was the big man in the ring, but he

Soviet Chief Is Challenged By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Friday to meet him and other Western leaders face to face in the U. N. Security Council to tackle the problem of "indirect aggression" in the Middle East.

In a new, tersely-worded note to Khrushchev, the President followed the example of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and suggested that the council be convened "on or about Aug. 12" in New York or any other city except Moscow.

"If such a meeting is arranged, he said, "I expect to attend and I hope that you would do likewise."

Soon after the 600-word note was handed to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister N. S. Patolichev in Moscow, Britain formally presented a request at the U. N. for a special meeting of the Council on Aug. 12 to be attended by the chiefs of government.

Choice Of Site Open

Eisenhower told Khrushchev he had instructed Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. representatives in arranging for a summit meeting of the council.

"I would hope that you would similarly instruct your permanent representative," he said. As for the site, the President said, this country would go along with a meeting elsewhere than New York "but we could not agree to the meeting being held in Moscow."

"The memory of the well-organized mass demonstration and serious damage to the United States Embassy in Moscow," he said, "is too fresh in the minds of the American people."

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold promptly arranged private conferences with French Ambassador Guillaume Georges-Picot, council president for August, and with representatives of the council's five permanent members—the United States, Britain, France, Russia and Nationalist China.

But in Paris, diplomatic sources said French Premier Charles de Gaulle may boycott any summit

'Gone Fishing' Easy To Read

There's more than one way to say "Gone fishing."

Monroe Commissioner of Streets W.D.H. Rodriguez proved that yesterday afternoon.

A Morning - World reporter, checking by the commissioner's office in City Hall found a sealed envelope, addressed to that reporter.

Inside the envelope, the Commissioner stated that he had "gone up into Arkansas just above the Louisiana line for a 24 hour trip."

The note continued: "The purpose of this trip is to look into some natural hydraulic installations on the Ouachita River a short distance upstream from the Government Lock and Dam at Filsenthaul."

Finally came the sentence: "This investigation will be from an ichthyological viewpoint."

Translation: "Gone fishing."

6873 MILES

Non-Stop Flight Record Shattered

PENDLETON, Ore. (UPI) — Capt. Marion Pat Boling, who said "I'm sorry I couldn't take it farther," landed his Beechcraft Bonanza here at 11:52 a. m. PST 3:52 p.m. EDT Friday after flying 6873 miles across the Pacific Ocean from Manila to shatter the record for a solo, non-stop flight in a single - engine plane.

The veteran United Air-lines pilot left Manila at dawn Thursday (6:06 p.m. E. D. T. Wednesday) and flew over the north Pacific and northwestern North America to Pendleton in an unofficial time of 45 hours, 46 minutes. His bright orange plane consumed 401 gallons of gasoline on the flight. "I feel remarkably well," Boling said when his Beechcraft touched down at Pendleton Airport. "I'm sorry I couldn't take it farther."

On hand to greet Boling when he landed were his wife, Joyce, and their 9-year-old son, Kevin. They had been waiting at Boise, Idaho, where Boling originally planned to land. He changed his plans when his fuel supply began to dwindle and told the Civil Aeronautics Administration at Seattle he would set down at Yakima, Wash. However, he decided to press on another 67 miles to Pendleton. Mrs. Boling and Kevin flew to Yakima in a plane supplied by the Beech Aircraft Corp., and then returned to Pendleton five minutes before Boling landed. They also have two daughters, Kerry, 4, and Jillian, 2.

The 43-year-old Palo Alto, Calif., pilot told newsmen who pressed around him when he stepped from his plane that he had subsisted on dried fruit and fig newtons. "I hope I never eat another fig newton," he commented.

Boling bettered by some 1600 miles the former single - engine plane distance mark of 5273 miles set in 1949 by the late Capt. Bill Odom.

Boling's route from Manila took

Report Schools Short Of Funds For Hot Lunches

Superintendent Van D. Odom yesterday said the City School System is short of funds to operate its lunch program for the month of September.

Odom told the City School Board that he has about $26,000 in surpluses from the end of the last school year to begin the lunch program on.

He said the system had about $48,000 this time last year to start the September program.

When contacted last night, Superintendent W. W. Ward, Ouachita Parish schools, said, "We have enough to run on for the month of September."

Two Broke Even

Odom said there were only two schools in the system that broke even in its lunch program last year. He said he won't receive lunch funds from the State Department of Education until around September 25th.

The board was told that among the white schools the percentage of school lunches and students ran from almost nil in one northside school to approximately 15 per cent in another school. In the Negro schools, the percentage ranged from 13 to 34 per cent of the total number of students.

When discussing the problems facing the schools in financing this and other programs, it was brought out that the automatic

EX-CONVICT

Shelters Prisoner, Loses Own Freedom

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Ex-convict Harold Plude, who won his freedom once by escape and again by eight years of upright living, lost it Friday because he sheltered another fleeing prisoner.

The Iowa Parole Board revoked its two-month-old parole and "reluctantly" ordered Plude back to Fort Madison State Penitentiary.

"I know I was stupid," Plude had said. "I doubt if I get another break." Plude, 42, lost his most precious possession because he obeyed a convict's code.

Escaped convict Herbert Slater, 25, a friend from Plude's Fort Madison days "just came to the door" and asked for help Monday. Plude couldn't bring himself to turn him away.

Slater was one of two prisoners who had walked away from the Clive Prison Farm, the same place from which Plude had escaped in 1949.

Plude had lived for eight years in Bridgeport, Conn., leading a clean life, getting married, and raising two boys. When he got involved in a minor restaurant fracas and was fingerprinted, Plude realized the law would soon catch up with him, so he returned to Iowa and prison last November. But he was paroled because officials believed he had shown he was fit for freedom.

With Slater sitting in his home, Plude's fitness was put to the test.

He begged Slater to leave, but the fugitive stayed overnight. He gave Slater $20, hoping it would help get him far away. Then, as a "last favor," Plude drove Slater to Ames, Iowa, to visit Slater's ex-wife. Police had been keeping a watch on the woman's home and were waiting when Plude and Slater drove up.

2 Persons Killed, 15 More Hurt

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A death - dealing dynamite bomb blast and fire that gutted a store containing offices of a right - wing anti-Nasser party broke the post-election calm Friday shortly before the arrival of almost 2,000 more United States troops.

The bombing apparently was part of an extremist-element campaign to hurry the removal of American troops from Lebanese soil.

At least two persons were killed and 15 wounded. The blast shattered a fabric shop near headquarters of Lebanese army troops outside the rebel-held Basta Moslem quarter.

Rebel leader Saeb Salam not only denied his men had anything to do with the explosion—he even offered to help hunt down the guilty parties.

The second story of the five-floor bombed building was occupied by offices of the anti-Nasser Peoples Party (PPS), which has been vigorously in the fight against the Lebanese rebels and was frequently a subject of their attacks.

Leaflets Scattered

The explosion was coincident with the scattering of leaflets across the capital warning "Americans go home today." The leaflets in vitriolic language said the revolt would go on until the American "new colonists" are gone and President Camille N. Chamoun hands over the office to President-elect Fuad Chehab.

The Lebanese cabinet met at noon at Chamoun's residence. Following the session, it was announced that the Lebanese government had accorded recognition to the new regime in Iraq. It was the Iraqi July 14 revolution that prompted the sending of American troops here and 2,000 British paratroopers to Jordan.

The bombing occurred shortly after noon. At 3 p. m., the U. S. military transport Upshur tied up in Beirut port to disembark Army reinforcements and equipment. An American military spokesman said there were 1,800 troops aboard.

The new U. S. arrivals were reported to be replacements for

'Big 80' Project In Calhoun Area Will Start Soon

Construction bids on the new "Big 80" federal highway from Choudrant to Calhoun will be opened August 20th and work is expected to begin by October 1st, it was learned yesterday.

District Engineer Wayne H. Huckaby said the bids will be opened in Baton Rouge and that work on the highway should start "within 30 days and possibly no later than October 1st."

At the same time, however, Huckaby said that the federal aid project from highway 80 to the Morehouse parish line via the Swartz Road has been delayed.

He said "rightway difficulties" caused the State Department of Highways to postpone the opening of bids from July 23rd to August 20th. The project will run from the Sicard Overpass to Stink Creek.

Both projects are a part of the federal aid highway program that will bring coast-to-coast traffic through the Twin Cities via a super elevated structure.

A hearing on a proposed bridge to span the Ouachita River was held here Tuesday and protests were taken under advisement. Actual work on the elevated highway here is not expected before 1960.

couldn't tell me because I might tighten up and spoil his case—you know, he thought I might get nervous and tip something off."

Don smiled at his brother's craftiness, then he told how he brought Stewart into his mother's home "so he could really watch him," and then arrested him "with not a minute's trouble."

"Stewart's wife left him," Badeaux said. "And Hubert told me to bring him home with me. We had an extra room so I told Stewart he could live in my house.

"That way, Hubie was able to listen to his conversations and really watch the guy. He came over and talked to him, too, and really gained his confidence."

When the time came for Stewart's arrest, it was easy.

"Hubie came over one night all serious and said that all of the nudists were going to be arrested," he said.

"He told us to destroy all our membership cards and any pictures we might have.

"Louis had a whole trunkful of stuff. He didn't want to destroy it. So Hubie told him he would hike it for him. This later turned out to be all the evidence Hubie was looking for.

"The next day, Hubie called and said police were coming to arrest us and that we should come to the third district and let him book us, before they did.

"He told Stewart that he would book us, then get us paroled and we could leave town and hide.

"We rushed over to the station and Hubie was waiting for us. He booked Stewart with possession of obscene pictures and ordered him locked up.

"Then we went home.

"My job was finished, and I was glad."

Sgt. Badeaux said Stewart suggested to Don Badeaux that the two of them go to Valpariso, Fla. and hide.

"I have a friend there," Stewart is quoted as saying.

The friend later turned out to be James Brock against whom postal inspectors have filed federal obscenity charges against.

Last night when Sgt. Badeaux returned from Florida after aiding in the arrest of Brock and his wife, he was summoned to the office of New Orleans police Supt. Provosty Dayries. Badeaux submitted his resignation at the stormy meeting because of what he termed "unparalleled harrassment" by top police officials in the case.

some of the Marine units here. The total U. S. buildup here prior to the latest arrivals totaled about 10,000 Marines and Army airborne infantrymen.

Engineers Included

The new contingent of troops included two battalions of combat engineers from Germany, a preventive medicine company, and the remainder of the evacuation hospital which already is here.

A military spokesman said the troops would be disembarked between 6 and 10 a. m. Saturday and would travel to the airport bivouac area in commercial Lebanese buses. Asked why it had been necessary to send troops in addition to those already here, the spokesman said he could not answer.

Saeb Salam, chieftain of the Basta rebels who since Thursday's presidential election has had his men under cease-fire-unless-fired-upon orders, disclaimed any responsibility for the bombing or the leaflet propaganda attack.

Near Parliament

"It is impossible that any of my men are responsible for this violence," he said.

The blast was set off in a street that is only a few hundred yards from Parliament House.

Chamoun's term of office technically expires Sept. 21. There was no word from any source whether he intended to step out now, although rebel sources said an agreement that he leave the presidency immediately had been a condition of their support of Chehab, the 56-year-old army chief of staff.

Chehab conferrred briefly with U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock and received his congratulations. State Department troubleshooter Robert D. Murphy, who is given credit for helping engineer the compromise that elected Chehab, returned Friday from visits to Jordan and Israel.

West Monroe Extends Work On Clean-Up

The West Monroe civic improvement program, originally scheduled for one week, has been extended for another week, Roy Brooks, committee chairman, announced last night.

"Everybody is really enthused over this program and the city trucks have been kept busy hauling trash the residents have cleaned up," Brooks said.

The program is being extended to clean up the neutral grounds and cut the grass on the vacant lots, according to Brooks.

"We've had a hard time getting the owners of vacant lots to cut the grass on them," he said. "The city will be glad to do it this coming week for a small amount, if the owners will just contact us at city hall."

Brooks congratulated the home owners who cleaned up their grounds.

meeting within the United Nations, although he had no objection to the proposed council meeting.

Not Defendants

Like Khrushchev, he would prefer a meeting of the chiefs of government outside the framework of the U.N. He suggested a five-power summit conference be convened in Geneva on Aug. 18.

But the President and Macmillan have insisted that the U. N. Security Council is the proper forum for considering the Middle East problem.

The President made plain to Khrushchev that the Western powers have no intention of appearing at the council meeting as "defendants" against the Soviet leader's charge that they are guilty of "aggression" in the Middle East.

"The problem of the Middle East is not one of a threat of aggression by the United States," he said, "but rather the threat, by others, of further indirect aggression against independent states."

The President also chided Khrushchev for the tone of invective in his note accusing the United States of seeking to delay a summit meeting by insisting on procedural details.

Academy—A House appropriations subcommittee grilled Air Force officials behind closed doors Friday about a report that a colonel accused the lawmakers of trying to grab headlines with their charges of waste at the new Air Force Academy. Chairman Harry R. Sheppard (D-Calif.) said the Air Force contended the officer's remarks were misinterpreted. The officer is Col. Stephen F. Aviation—The House Commerce Committee approved a bill to create a new federal aviation agency to control flights of both civilian and military planes in the nation's overcrowded airways.

Space—The Senate approved a bill to authorize $47,800,000 in new facilities for the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The House Space Committee quickly followed suit. About half the money would be used to expand rocket launching facilities at the agency's Wallops Island, Va., station.

MONROE

Judge W. M. Harper heard 16 cases yesterday in Monroe City Court. Ten of the offenses were traffic violations.

Kenneth Coker, 19, Rt. 2, Box 282, Winnsboro Highway, Monroe, was sentenced to seven months in jail on each of two counts of theft, the sentences to run concurrently. Coker was arrested at the rear of Monroe Furniture Company.

Another theft case netted the same sentence when James Britton, 17, 224 Malvern Avenue, pleaded guilty to theft of a radio valued at less than $10. He too received seven months in jail.

Luther Williams, 44, 1809 Natchitoches St., West Monroe, and Lester Richardson, 53, Tyler, Tex. were both charged with indecent exposure and vagrancy. Each received seven months in jail on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

him over Japan to the Aleutians, over Vancouver Island off the Canadian coast to a landfall east of Seattle, then southeast to Pendleton in the northeast corner of Oregon.

He told newsmen, photographers and well-wishers that all went well on his long, lonely flight but that for a time Thursday night "I was afraid I was going to have to set it down in the cold, blue Pacific." He said the engine threatended to quit because of icy conditions. But as the roughness smoothed out he was able to continue the flight without incident. He said he had about three gallons of gasoline left when he landed here.

KIDNEY TRANSPLANT

Operation For Youth Too Late

BOSTON (UPI)—A young Swedish boy who had no kidneys died Friday night, his small body too exhausted to wait for the one-chance operation surgeons hoped would save his life.

The death of Nils-Olov Wisell of Motala, Sweden at 8 p.m. E.D.T. was caused partially by the same defect that could cripple thousands in atomic warfare.

Nils would have been 11 Sept. 24.

The slender, blond child lost his two-month fight for life as his father and mother stood by his bedside in the sealed room where he had lived since July 2.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wisell, brought him to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital here after his only kidney was damaged in a playground accident and had to be removed. Famous kidney surgeons hoped to save his life by transplanting a kidney from his mother, an operation that has never succeeded except between identical twins.

In an unprecedented effort, more than 50 doctors joined forces on Nils' case. Dozens of persons from all over the world offered to donate their kidneys and hundreds more signed up for a special "standby" blood donor list.

Those on the list—who were "on call" around the clock—gave the whole blood transfusions which sustained the child through several crises.

Though Nils had no kidneys Peter Bent Brigham said early in the case he could be kept alive indefinitely" with an artificial kidney. It apparently was a failure in his blood that defeated the child.

Since antibodies believed to be produced in the bone marrow had attacked and killed all kidney transplants ever attempted between non-twins, surgeons hoped to outwit death in this case by transplanting bone marrow, too.

All Nils' own marrow was destroyed by massive radiation. He was given two marrow transfusions from his mother—in the hope that the new marrow might recognize the new kidney as being compatible and friendly tissue.

But the marrow transfusions did not "take."

This meant the child's body could manufacture no white blood cells to combat infection and no red cells to carry the oxygen supply neeled to sustain life. He was in a condition similar to that of persons who have suffered radiation sickness in nuclear warfare In such battles, death from radiation injury is in part due to the massive destruction of the bone marrow.

pay, raises guaranteed by the state, but not financed by that level, was causing major monetary troubles for the local system. The labor costs in the City of Monroe is much higher than that in many of the rural areas, the board members heard.

In other action, the board, in an effort to "remain a sound conservative system" agreed to cut out the driver training program for the coming year. This, they agreed, would save several thousands of dollars. Many of the other "frills" of the educational system came under the scrutiny of the members. However, all were in agreement that they would continue to work for the improvement of the educational standards within the schools of the system.

The group voted to sign a student accident insurance agreement with the American Progressive Life Insurance company for protection of students during all school activities during the coming year.

Negro Stabbing Probed Here

A Sterlington Negro, William Ross, about 25, was rushed to the charity hospital last night with at least three stab wounds in his head and neck and believed to be in critical condition.

He was picked up by a Hunt ambulance in front of the Red Top Cab Company on DeSiard. Police investigation was continuing late last night.

ment, they would be assured 80 per cent of parity. But they could get planting allotments increased as much as 40 per cent by accepting a price support of 65 per cent of parity.

In 1960, the alternate interim plan would offer supports of at least 75 and 60 per cent of parity.

At the end of the interim period, supports for all cotton could be reduced to 70 per cent of parity in 1961 and 65 per cent in 1962 and thereafter. But the supports never could be reduced below 30 cents a pound for the average of the crop. This is slightly higher than the minimum provided in the Senate bill.

Threat To Ruin Looks Is Defied

cover his mechanics after he followed a teamster official's suggestion and switched his laundry to the Star Coverall Co.

Mrs. Dawson, who owns the Dawson Industrial Laundry in Detroit, said an acquaintance told her an unidentified man had warned that "it would be too bad to ruin her. She is such a good looking woman."

She said the threat was one of three against herself and her family warning her not to testify in the Senate Rackets Committee's investigation of alleged union-business collusion in Detroit.

She said the first two threats came in telephone calls last month taken by her secretary, Mrs. Virginia Slepak, who understood the first call to come from "Mr. Hoffa of the teamsters."

She said the caller warned, "if you keep your mouth shut there won't be any trouble."

Teamster President James R. Hoffa is scheduled to testify before the committee next week about his alleged associations with racketeers.

Mrs. Dawson said the second call, a week later, said "this is not a threat...we don't want any trouble. We don't want anything to happen to her or her family."

The caller, who identified himself as a "friendly competitor" went on to say that Mrs. Dawson had been seen with rackets committee investigator Pierre Salinger.

Mrs. Dawson, who looked more like a model than a businesswoman in her form-fitting white suit, appeared calm as she testified in the second day of the new rackets hearings.

Iraq Wins Recognition From British

LONDON (UPI)—Britain joined its Baghdad Pact allies Friday in formal diplomatic recognition of the revolutionary government of Iraq.

United States recognition of the Iraqi Republic was expected soon

Recognition by Britain followed similar moves by several Western governments. The Foreign Ministry of Finland announced its recognition of the republic Friday also.

Firm Answer

Diplomats saw the British recognition as a firm answer to Soviet charges last Wednesday that the Western powers and Baghdad Pact nations were preparing "aggression" against Iraq.

"Her Majesty's government recognize that the Republic of Iraq is an independent, sovereign state and that the government established by Brig. Abdul Karim Kassem as prime minister is the government of the Republic of Iraq," the Foreign Office announced.

The recognition of the Kassem regime gave implicit acknowledgement that the Jordan - Iraq Arab Union was out of business. A Foreign Office spokesman said: "It would be unrealistic for Her Majesty's government not to take into account the existing separation of the two countries."

Britain had informed the Jordanian government of its move. A spokesman said it was for Jordan to decide if it wanted to uphold the existence of the Arab Union.

The British note was handed to the Iraqi government Friday by Sir Michael Right, British ambassador in Baghdad.

In reply to questions a spokesman said the assurances mentioned in the note were given by the new regime in public statements.

Britain has reserved the right to claim compensation for the damage to its embassy and other property during the riots that accompanied the Iraqi coup, the spokesman said.

A distiller's survey determined that drinkers between the ages of 30 and 39 dislike the taste of liquor more than those in any other age group.

Polio Outbreak Hits Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—An outbreak of infantile paralysis neared epidemic proportions Friday and caused the Ministry of Education to order all primary schools closed until further notice.

The U. S. Air Force flew in two iron lungs and two respirators from Panama. U. S. Army polio specialist Harold R. Lynch, accompanied the equipment to help set it up and instruct Nicaraguans how to use it.

More than 50 children were reported stricken in Managua alone.

Promise Is Made After Son Dies

FORT JACKSON, S.C. (UPI)—A New York father, whose son died Thursday of heat exhaustion at Fort Jackson Hospital, said Friday that Brig. Gen. Christian Clarke had assured him trainees would no longer be sent out to drill in hot weather after receiving medical shots.

Pvt. Hubert L. Brinsmade, Jr., died Thursday with his parents at his bedside. Brinsmade, 21, of Bronxville, N.Y., was stricken Wednesday along with another trainee.

Brinsmade had been given a typhoid booster shot and then set out to march for three and a half hours. He and Pvt. Darris L. Drake, 23, of Baltimore, Md., collapsed in the near-100-degree heat.

The Army said Friday that Drake, who was in a "much improved condition," had been flown to Walter Reed Hospital at Washington. Drake was taken to Washington in a medical plane from Brookley Air Force Basen, Ala.

RENOUNCE REVOLUTION

Warning Given Soviet Leaders

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

If the Soviet Union doesn't want war she will have to renounce her ideas of world revolution.

That's what President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles are actually saying through their demands for a check on indirect aggression.

That is the focal point around which all the other issues between the world and the Soviet Union have revolved for 40 years.

For the moment the American leaders are relating their stand to the Middle East, because the proposed summit meeting, if it develops, will be confined to that problem. But their words clearly apply to the cold war situation in general.

"If the Soviet Union does not want war she will almost have to agree that these practices should be brought under some kind of control by the United Nations," says Dulles.

Failure to make this point clearly and to relate other problems to it has been largely responsible for the unreal atmosphere in which all East-West negotiations have been conducted. It is as though settlements of the issues of disarmament, German and Korean reunification, liberation of Eastern Europe, the futures of underdeveloped peoples and the like could be undertaken individually.

The failure of the Western world to make its general position clear on this point began before the end of World War II.

Stalin thought the Soviet Union should be repaid for her war suffering by hegemony over certain areas. He did not say he meant temporary hegemony preparatory to Moscow's complete control of the whole world through international communism, but that had long been written in the book of Kremlin intent.

Churchill and Roosevelt temporized in order to get agreements on more immediate issues, and the years of doubletalk began.

Even today, despite the general nature of part of his words, Dulles presents the idea of some sort of check on indirect aggression as something to be negotiated.

Yet for decades the diplomats have sought a far simpler thing—a definition of direct aggression so that it could be established as a crime against which the world could react collectively.

They found the Nazis guilty in a specific case, but even history has not definitely fixed responsibility for many wars, such as the Franco-German war of 1870.

Defining indirect aggression is infinitely more difficult, as witness the case of Lebanon, where United Nations observers and Allied intelligence experts have disagreed over the evidence.

Yet everyone knows what it is. It is the effort in any guise of outside nations to promote political changes in another country for their own political or economic benefit.

Such subversion is the prime policy of international communism. Until the Kremlin is convinced that its profits cannot be worth the danger of the war Dulles says it will produce, nothing can be done about it.

Sample Ballots Are Mailed In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The secretary of state's office Friday mailed sample ballots and tally sheets to election officials as it began preparing for the Aug. 26 Democratic primary.

Some voters face as many as four ballots because state law requires a separate ballot for local officers, state officers, bond issues and the constitutional amendment proposal.

The amendment changes the way in which the constitution may be amended. Such measures now must gain a majority of total votes cast to a majority of those voting on the amendment itself.

It also would make a two-thirds majority of each House be necessary to gain legislative approval of an amendment proposal. Such approval is now required for three separate days. The change would make approval needed only once.

Also to be voted on are chancery and circuit judges and two congressional races. Congressmen facing opposition are Reps. William Colmer of Pascagoula and Arthur Winstead of Philadelphia.

The sample ballots and tally sheets went to election commissioners and circuit clerks throughout the state.

Warn Farmers To Watch For Aphids, Worms

Farmers are cautioned to be on the lookout for aphids and boll worms and should pay particular attention in using the correct amounts of DDT or endrin, Woody Dry, extension entomologist, state yesterday.

Dry checked several fields yesterday and found them to be getting satisfactory control of aphids and boll worms. But it appears that they are more serious than boll weevils.

Boll worms are immature moths and attack cotton, corn and tomatoes. Aphids are tiny insects parts that cluster underneath cotton leaves and suck the plant juices, causing a reduction in yield, defoliation and if allowed to remain on the plant when it blooms, lower the grade of cotton.

According to Dry, DDT or endrin should be put on the crop in five day intervals for proper control.

UNESCO--Youth's Trip Wire

The United Nations' Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization — referred to simply as UNESCO — continues to trumpet "one worldism" to a receptive United States while Russia rejects such an idea. Khrushchev's refusal to attend a meeting under U. N. auspices bears heavily upon this.

As a result, this country is undergoing a slow but steady softening while the communist empire grows tougher.

This is not an accident. Russia has let it be known she was "boss" of the United Nations since its charter meeting in San Francisco, where no opening prayer service was held out of respect for the Soviet's official atheism. This point is harped upon continually by conservative writers, but justifiably so. Since that time, the official U. S. policy has tried to abide by policies of the United Nations, which Russia often inspires and then follows only when it best suits her ends.

Many publications are issued through UNESCO, and these find their way into the National Education Association, religious and interdominational service groups and youth groups. Primarily, however, its philosophy is aimed at the classroom.

The temptation is to begin swinging at the organization as though it were a many bladed windmill. Twelve persons connected with the administration of UNESCO have been identified in sworn testimony before congressional committees as Communists. Seven have been connected with Soviet espionage. Six others refused to appear before government loyalty boards.

This appears an "open and shut" case on the surface, the solution being to condemn the entire workings of the U. N. institutions. But the American people continue to hold out hopes that some sort of world government will work. Certainly the many thousands of persons in this and other countries who have spoken in favor of and otherwise assisted organizations of the U. N. are not all Communists. So those who rise to do battle on the local level often find themselves faced with peace - loving opposition.

The most effective means of showing UNESCO for what it is — a device to weaken the patriotism of American youth — may be demonstrated by the adage "don't do as I do; do as I say." This is Russia speaking to the other nations through UNESCO.

For while the United States and other western nations absorb that organization's literature which compromises national allegiance, the Russians reject such ideas. In their schools, they continue to teach communism as the only efficient form of government, that no God exists and that one day Russia will rule the world.

This should come as a shock to all true liberals: communism, once considered the key to a society built on the brotherhood of man, has "gone fascist." Many knew all along they were two brands of the same product—government by dictatorship and bureaucracy.

Such methods have been common knowledge in south Louisiana for many years. There any brand of coffee may be placed in the pot, but it always comes out tasting like the same, 'cajun coffee.

At any time in the future, Khrushchev may launch a tirade against the United States for failing to follow all the details of United Nations protocol. Now, he chooses to have nothing to do with the organization.

It boils down to this: through the United Nations, Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization school children in many sections of the United States are being indoctrinated with the ideals of world government while the Russians are preparing their children to run such a world government.

It must be kept in mind that the United States has shown the world a proven form of government which is open to criticism and correction by its citizens. No agency of an experimental super government—often acting as a tool of communism—should be allowed to undermine our national allegiance.

Room For Argument

One of the signs of America's growing pains is a current horror of disagreement. It is too soon for freedom of thought and ideas in the United States to suffer such a setback—we are not that crowded together as yet. We still have room for argument.

There are many instances today which point up the present tendency towards the elimination of discord. One of the best examples is the premium placed upon a moderator for a panel discussion. Such a man or woman must be able to act as a "smoothing iron" so that no person nor minority group will take offense. Apparently it is of little consequence if the feelings of the majority are violated, since that group is not organized to exert pressure.

If such a panel were to end in a multi-sided debate — unsettled — the moderator would probably lose his job.

What do we want? For the past 25 years the trend has unmistakably pointed to a pulling of the punches. "Don't buck city hall," "That's a hot issue, lay off," and "Keep your lip buttoned up" —all are keys to climbing the ladder to the top in our times of big government and big organization.

As a result, there is timid conformity in the lower echelons and a tendency toward more power at the top.

In everything from groups of parents and teachers to music and art appreciation clubs, the correspondence from "national" plays a heavy role in forming the attitudes of the members.

Though disagreement with the national policy makers in the clubs, unions or political parties is still loudly voiced at times, such an attitude is not the path to success. A critic becomes a "trouble maker" and he soon finds himself on the way out.

Will Rogers in his day was known as a "humorist." Yet his brand of criticism — good natured as it was — jabbed many a needle into persons in high places. Imagine such a man in our midst today where success means a unified front to declare an automobile, cigarette, filter on the end of a cigarette, no filter, face cream, face lotion, soft drink or hard liquor the best of all with no weaknesses whatsoever.

It is this militant dictation from topside and the docile—but necessary—seeking of approval in the ranks which colors our entire national picture today.

Perhaps, with such a power as Russia posing as a threat to the free world it is wise to prepare our national defenses and individual defense mechanisms. But the alarming lack of exercise given in the past decade to our capacity to think, argue and question could cause us to suffer even in this situation. Paralysis of the thinking apparatus played a big part in the U. S. lag in the space race.

What is sorely needed is a realization that our society has plenty of reason for freedom of thought and ideas and plenty of room for argument.

Statesmanship No Cliche For Five Famous Figures

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Statesmanship is not a cliche," Senator John F. Kennedy was good enough to write in his Foreword to my book "The Famous Five," "but a quality within the reach of politicians with the vision and courage of the five senators included in this fine volume."

Vision and courage, Kennedy went on to say, are qualities which Senators Clay, Webster, Calhoun, La Follette and Taft had in common. Reviewers of my book have added some other qualities shared by these greatest of senators — courtesy, intelligence, pride in the senate, integrity of purpose.

Some reviewers have chided the author for raising the question—"What makes greatness in these Famous Five?" — without supplying the answer, if there is one. If we Americans are living, as Adlai Stevenson has said, in "a time for greatness," maybe it is a question which needs answering.

Funny thing — there is an answer, and a useful one, in the lives of these five men. It seemed so obvious to me when I wrote the book that I left it for the individual reader to find for himself. What did each of the Famous Five have in abundance? Each had love. As simple as that — love.

Henry Clay, Heaven knows, was not great because he legislated for a protective tariff, a national bank and the War of 1812. But "whole acres of people" would come to hear him speak. More people, as a friend said, would "run after him" and "fewer would vote for him" in presidential races than any man in history. The voting is not the thing. It's the old story of why the lamb followed Mary to school. Mary loved the lamb, and the lamb loved Mary. Clay, who suffered more than his share of family tragedies in death and insanity, was drawn to humanity for this very reason — the brotherhood of sorrow. His surviving son at Clay's deathbed wrote the senator's best epitaph: "Was there ever a man had such friends?"

Daniel Webster, as a number of critics have noted in the light of the Sherman Adams story, was always getting his purse refilled by businessmen whom he assisted. But this habit did not prevent living senators from selecting Webster for membership in the Famous Five. What was the overriding virtue in Webster? I think it was his enormous gift of affection. He bestowed it upon his father, his brother, his wife, his chosen friends. Today, love is a sex - oriented word. But several years ago, novelist Somerset Maugham in his philosophic autobiography, "The Summing Up," used the one - word erpression "lovingkindness" to name the greatest of all human qualities. Webster had it in abundance. No wonder men called him great.

We all know who was the femme fatale in the life of John C. Calhoun. He died crying out her name: "The South! The poor South! God knows what will become of her." We are taught to be suspicious nowadays of "nationalism," and to regard internationalism as better because it's bigger. But there was a time in American history when men's hearts throbbed for their nation and their state, else we would never have become a country at all. No group of All-Star selectors could pass over a man who loved the principle of state sovereignty as passionately as Calhoun.

That leaves us La Follette and Taft. Well, the greatest lovers in song and story are the men who fell in love and stayed that way throughout their lifetimes. The romantic legend that one man can love one woman exclusively and forever is written in the marriages of Bob La Follette and Bob Taft.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Inflationary Trend Points To Lower Living Standard

The really big and devastating problem that the American people face is inflation. What it really amounts to is that consumer's prices have doubled since 1939. According to the Committee for Economic Development, ". . . During 1956 and 1957 alone, the consumer price index rose 6 per cent—a rate which, if continued, would double the price level in 23 years."

What this means, in simple language, is that the value of the dollar as a means of exchange is constantly going down and that therefore the standard of life will ultimately also go down, if not altogether in the quantity of goods consumed by the individual, certainly in the quality not only of goods but also of services.

The capitalist system has two justifications:

1. That it produces a constantly rising standard of living—the greatest good for the number—as a result of constant competition in a free market;

2. That because the individual possesses freedom of economic action, he also possesses freedom in all other phases of life, such as thought speech, religion, movement, research, teaching, etc.

If the capitalist system bogs down in these two aspects, it fails completely and some other system of life will take its place. There are many systems of life; there are many mixtures of systems. For instance, Soviet Russia which regards itself as a socialist state employs the wage incentives of capitalism and in its international trade is shifting over, to a degree, from the barter methods of socialism to a gold exchange basis.

Elliott V. Bell, chairman of McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, Inc., and an expert on banking, referring to a CED discussion on the subject of inflation, wrote:

"I do not believe that this policy statement comes to grips with the real difficulties of the inflation situation. There is no real effort to say why the policies of recent years have so signally failed to defend us against inflation. If we cannot even agree on where we failed, I do not think we can get very far in prescribing a recipe for success."

The reason, I think, that many knowledgeable men, eve experts, fail to agree on a possible cure for inflation or on the causes for any economic disturbance in our society, is that they do not agree as to what our society is. We speak of it as a democracy, as a republic, as a country in which private enterprise prevails. None of these words or phrases correctly describes the American way of life although all of them do to a certain degree. When, for instance, we say that private enterprise prevails, that is true, but public enterprise is growing apace. And in private enterprise, big business is squeezing small business which is the social core of private enterprise.

And as big business grows, it becomes as bureaucratic as government. Bureaucracy usually leads to stagnation, to a substitution of forms for thought; to a lessening of initiative and competition. In many instances, big business hires outside policy advisers, outside economists, outside publicity men to think out the social nature of the business. These outsiders often form a bridge among similar companies to eliminate competition. Without competition there can be no capitalism. The essential difference between capitalism and socialism is competition in a free market.

Thus, it can be said that in the United States, while many groups, official and unofficial, have tried to study the nature and causes of inflation, no group, except perhaps the Rockefeller Brothers panel, has approached the problem from the basic standpoint as to whether it is wise or possible or probable for the United States to remain a capitalistic country.

This much we have ourselves witnessed: Two world wars, a prolonged depression, a shift in population from rural to urban areas, a smaller war in Korea, and the need for the enormous cost of permanent preparation for war. These may be the principal causes for the present inflation; they are not the only ones.

The social effects of inflation are more complex and ugly than the immediate economic effects. For instance, all forms of service in the home have practically disappeared from middle class American life, which is reflected in the vogue of do-it-yourself operations and a consumption of the leisure time of male and female workers in the type of chores for which numerous devices were expected to be the savior.

Fall To Usher More Horses Into Parlor

NEW YORK (AP)—A friend of mine had a strange experience the other night.

"I watched television for two hours," he said, "and didn't see a single horse."

This may mark a historic moment in the video industry. For come autumn, such an experience may be next to impossible.

The hoofbeats of the horse opera will echo in the nation's living rooms as never before.

Two years ago there were only 11 Western series on the major networks, last year 16. But the season upcoming will have nearly two dozen—that is, if Hollywood doesn't run out of horses and and blank cartridges.

Does the sight of a galloping nag now give you a kind of queazy seasick feeling? Well, there's only one way out. You turn off your TV set and turn on your radio. Then you won't have to watch a Western program — you'll just have to listen to it.

Whether Westerns are really as popular with the people as producers and sponsors seem to think is open to argument. But there is no question they have had a tremendous impact on our current culture.

More money is spent in filming Westerns each year than was required to buy all of Alaska in 1867.

Many of us now feel more familiar with the streets of such old Western towns of Tombstone and Dodge City than we are with the streets of our own city. Many of us feel we know Wyatt Earp and Billy the Kid better than we do our next door neighbor.

The cult of the cowboy and the gunman, like the cult of bosom-worship in America, sometimes seems to have gone beyond the boundaries of pure entertainment and to have approached the proportions of a national neurosis.

One veteran program chief gives this as the reason behind the epidemic of Westerns:

"TV is an escape medium. The best kind of escape is one in which you are shocked and threatened—but not in a way that really could happen to you.

"That's why Westerns succeed. You enjoy the tense feeling of watching someone walk down a street in Dodge City in 1870 to face a gunman. But one reason you enjoy it is that, basically, you know you won't have to do it yourself.

"Modern plays about the loneliness and despair every man must face in living may be great art, but they are too real. Sponsors don't like them because they scare you out of your house and into the nearest bar."

This estimate of the situation is probably true. Watching Westerns is for many of us — like the ostrich's fabled custom of sticking its head in the sand—a way to keep from thinking about our own lives and problems. Problems we can understand, such as the need for meeting a mortgage payment; problems we can't understand, such as what to do in the Middle East.

Back of it all may be the wild hope that someday, somehow, Marshal Dillon or Wyatt Earp will get Nikita Khrushchev in their gunsights and end all our worries.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Greatest Orators Use Right Words

Case Y-378: Dr. Roy L. Smith is regarded as one of the 25 greatest living pulpit orators in America.

For many years he edited the Methodist magazine called the "Christian Advocate."

He still writes widely for newspapers and magazines, and has many wonderful books to his credit.

One of his latest books of sermons was revised recently, and Dr. Smith sent me the following excerpt from that review:

". . . his sermons are just a series of anecdotes for the unthinking listener. There is nothing really profound in any of them."

That's comparable to a sandlot baseball pitcher saying that Herb Score or Billy Pierce don't have any stuff on the balls which they pitch so devastatingly across the plate!

"I'm afraid many of our young preachers are straining too hard to be profound," added Dr. Smith. "I'd much rather be helpful to people than philosophical."

Simple Greatness

Jesus was likewise belittled because he used language that the poor people could understand.

And Christ's sermons were a series of anecdote (parables) that illustrated his opening text.

Just take notes whenever you listen to the greatest orators in the pulpits or on the political platforms and you will find that they have ALL learned the basic recipe of a great speech from Christ's own narrative (anecdotal) formula.

Start out with a striking text or speech topic.

Document it with relevant cases, told in narrative fashion, to amplify and illustrate that main principle.

Then conclude with a punchy or dramatic terminal statement. This should tie the wheat in the sack, so to speak.

It adds richness to use an appropriate quotation from some great figure of history.

Clergymen can reach an even higher emotional climax if they will come down the home stretch (peroration) in rhythm.

To do so, just select a bit of verse which contains the thought that exactly caps your climax.

Then recite this poetry for human beings feel a tightening of the scalp and goose pimples up and down their spine when the oratorical crescendo shifts from prose to poetry at the climax.

Petty Minds

Petty minds strain for a vain show of authority and prestige by using big words.

The average word in the Bible contains but five letters, which means a two-syllable word. And Jesus routinely employed short words.

"Do unto others what you'd have them do unto you," Christ urged.

Notice his simple language. Yet many second rate clerics will try to impress the grieving, heart-hungry people in the pews by use of five-syllable vocabulary (polysyllables).

And similar psychologists even criticize me because I employ two-syllable terms, thus making psychology look "simple and unscientific."

Alas, they confuse science with polysyllables and try to appear as big shots by obfuscating ideas in a deluge of circumlocutions.

Dr. Roy L. Smith has called his shots accurately when he says many clergymen are straining to be profound instead of to win souls and meet the everyday needs of parishioners.

A small mind selfishly craves five - syllable or "jawbreaker" words to impress people with his profound thinking.

But a big mind unselfishly focuses on the people themselves, so he talks their language and buoys up their souls.

SYLVIA PORTER

Talk Mounts For New Credit Curbs

Do you remember when, in order to buy a new car, you had to make a minimum down - payment of 33 1-3 per cent of the price and pay off your car loan in 18 months?

Do you recall when, in order to buy household appliances and furniture, you had to make minimum downpayments of 15 per cent and pay off those installment loans also in 18 months?

You should remember. For those were the credit buying terms under which you were living only a little over six years ago — as recently as May 1952, the month wartime's "Regulation W", under which the Federal Reserve Board set the terms on which you could borrow to - buy, finally expired.

Today, once again, there are "whispers" in high Washington circles about a return to a form of Regulation W under certain, quite conceivable economic conditions.

And, while contrary to some widely - published reports the Administration now has no intention of asking this session of Congress for standby controls over credit, you should be aware that "informal discussions" about this have been and are going on.

It may seem ironic to you that authorities should even be thinking of inflation controls so early in the recovery from the 1957-58 recession — and at a time when joblessness is still high and sales of 1959 autos are a crucial key to the extent of the 1959 rebound.

It may even seem incredible in view of the fact that after it had made a monumental study of consumer credit controls at the request of President Eisenhower, the Federal Reserve Board itself came up with the conclusion only last year that a "special peacetime authority to regulate consumer installment credit is not now advisable."

Yet, control talk is mounting. And what's more, it began long before the Middle East crisis exploded and revived general discussion of wartime curbs over prices, wages, credit.

For the fear is very real in Washington and elsewhere that, as the infant business upturn gains power inflationary forces will gain strength too, and a new price spiral could develop if you, the American consumer, started to buy heavily once again on credit.

Second, the memory of 1955 — the year of wildly enthusiastic buying of cars on progressively looser credit terms — is vivid in the minds of Government officials and these officials are convinced it was the credit - inspired boom-on-boom of that year which led inevitably to the 1957-58 recession. Treasury Secretary Anderson is particularly anxious to avoid a repetition of 1955's buying spree.

Third, despite all their probing and pondering, turning and churning, Government economists haven't been able to come up with any "new and realistic" ideas on how to moderate a boom when it gets underway. As one informed Washington source puts it, "Sure, a major curb would be a slash in Government spending, but how do you do this when 83 cents of every dollar goes to five areas — military, atomic energy, mutual aid, payment of interest on the public debt and veterans? Who is going to make cuts in those areas? And while maybe you might be able to postpone some of the other 17 cents of spending, that's a weak maybe. The record speaks for itself."

It is against this background that experts are dusting off the books on the old controls. Anderson is making no secret of his belief that one inflation brake that should be seriously considered if inflation pressures reassert themselves is a curb on installme t credit.

When George Humphrey was Treasury chief he led the Administration into vigorous opposition to reimposition of any direct controls except in an all - out war emergency. Humphrey's attitude was, "We Republicans got rid of those controls, and I'm dead set against taking them back."

But Anderson's attitude is much more flexible. And the experience of a recession at an all - time peak price level has been a mighty sobering one to most policy - makers in Washington.

Unless the Middle East crisis worsens, the issue will smolder through the rest of this session of Congress.

But then, if you — as a buyer on credit or a seller on an instalment plan — do not police yourselves during the next business upturn, the smoldering fires will become flames you won't be able to miss.

And the odds will grow that direct credit controls again will become part of our economic lives.

Court Wipes Out Sentence Of Officer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The court of military appeals Friday wiped out the sentence of an Army club officer who admitted stealing more than $12,000 at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., to make up for gambling losses.

Judge Homer Ferguson said the court-martial that sentenced Lt. Col. Robert H. Lynch had been inflamed by its president's "unbridled outburst" at defense questioning.

The president of a military court-martial is akin to the foreman of a civilian jury.

Ferguson, writing for the three-judge appeals court, said the Army may order a rehearing.

Lynch, 49, of Fort Smith, Ark., had pleaded guilty to going AWOL for 13 days from Ft. Chaffee in 1957 just before the books of the officers' open mess were to be audited. He also admitted taking $12,058.07 in mess funds, signing a false financial statement and, the previous summer, forging a $798.84 check.

Army investigators picked him up at Salt Lake City, June 5, 1957.

Lynch was sentenced to dismissal from the service, three years at hard labor and loss of pay and allowances. A board of review reduced the confinement to two years.

Solon Claims Many Cigarette Ads Misleading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn) said Friday many cigarette ads are misleading about the effectiveness of filter tips as a protection against lung cancer.

Blatnik, chairman of a House Government Operations subcommittee which held hearings on the subject last year, has introduced a bill to prohibit misleading cigarette advertising, dealing primarily with filter tips.

After the hearings a year ago, Blatnik said, cigarette firms began making attempts to produce filters to screen more tars and nicotine.

As a result, he said, some firms have come up with filters that actually do further reduce the tar and nicotine content of the smoke.

"Some are still misleading in their advertising, however," Blatnik said. "The bill I introduced is designed to stop misleading adversing."

The bill would require cigarette companies to state plainly on the package the nicotine and tar content. It also would prohibit using the term filter on the package if the smoke from a regular size cigarette produced more than 11 milligrams of tar.

Asked why the bill was not introduced until the closing days of the session when there is littie chance to get final action on it this year, Blatnik said he wanted to give the cigarette firms further opportunity to work on the filters.

FAMILY RALLIES AROUND DESERTER—Wayne Powers, the GI who hid out for 14 years in the home of his French common law wife after wartime desertion, gets a good luck greeting from his mate and their children before his trial at Verdun, France. The U.S. army court-martial sentenced the 37-year-old Powers to 10 years imprisonment after he pleaded guilty. Kissing the GI is Yvette Beleuse, who hid Powers during his long desertion. Their children are Freddy, 2, in Powers' arms, and from left, Dorothy 12; Harry, 4½; Jimmy, 10; and Douglas, 8. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Paris)

HID 14 YEARS

Deserter Given 10-Year Term

VERDUN, France (UPI) — Wayne Powers, 37-year-old U.S. soldier who hid for 14 years with a French woman and fathered her five children, pleaded guilty to wartime desertion Friday. He was sentenced to 10 years at hard labor.

The sentence was subject to immediate review by superior officers and was expected to be reduced drastically.

Powers said he wanted to marry his common-law wife and take a trip back to Chillicothe, Mo., to see his father, Jake.

The balding, long-raced private showed no sign of emotion when the seven-officer U.S. court martial pronounced sentence after a three-hour trial at this U.S. military base in eastern France.

He had entered a "negotiated plea" of guilty on the understanding his sentence would be reduced to a few weeks or few months. Powers also was sentenced to dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

His sweetheart, Yvette Bleuse, a plump, black-haired woman who looks older than her 34 years, sat quietly in the courtroom with her five children.

Registered 'Father Unknown'

She understands no English and paid little attention to the trial, spending most of the time trying to keep her two youngest quiet.

The children had not seen their father for three weeks. During the years Powers was hiding out, they never mentioned his name outside the house.

Yvette duly and legally registered the children with French authorities under her own name, listing the father as "unknown." Two of the children, Dorothy, 12, and Jimmy, 10, wear glasses. The others are Douglas, 7, Harry, 4, and Freddy 2.

The trial was a formality. Powers merely pleaded and did not tesify.

Lt. J. D. McKiethan, of Austin, Tex., the prosecutor, told the court Powers' desertion just before the Battle of the Bulge in 1944 was "unjustified." He pointed out that Powers had left his unit just before the start of the battle.

Separated From Unit

He said the soldier deserted when his forces were in a "life and death struggle with the Nazis." He called for "punishment tempered to meet the severity of the crime."

According to the statement Powers gave police after his arrest last March, he said he had been held up, his truck stolen and he was mistaken for a German spy as the U.S. Army was moving north into Belgium.

He said that after his identity was established, he tried in vain to find his unit and then went back to Yvette whom he had met earlier while trucking supplies near the Belgian border.

He said in the statement that during the next 14 years he lived in her house taking care of the children and rarely going out. Despite the discretion of the children, rumors traveled around the village of Mont d'Origny, 70 miles north of Paris, where they lived.

French police searched the house three times. The last time, March 21, they found him in a hiding place under the staircase.

Divorcee Is Charged In Slaying

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Police charged a divorcee with the murder of wealthy business- ... Forest Teel Friday and revealed that she had named a pretty, young secretary as the other woman in their love triangle.

The 29-year-old secretary works for Eli Lilly and Co., the big drug firm where Teel, 54, was executive vice-president, police said. She was due to appear at police headquarters with her lawyer later Friday to answer questions about the murder.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas, 43, Teel's accused murderer, lay in the coma in which she was found Friday night. She had taken an overdose of sedatives and then lay down in her car, apparently to await death.

Doctors feared for her life at first, but the unconscious woman was reported improving later Friday.

The secretary's identity was learned through a di... found in Mrs. Nicholas's car. Police said it indicated she feared the younger woman was stealing Teel's love from her.

Evidence of the long - standing relationship between Mrs. Nicholas and the handsome, married executive was found in her apartment. Police turned up a letter addressed to Teel which spoke of a lover's quarrel and said life was no longer worth living. A pair of men's pajamas and slippers were found on a chair, along with a note asking that they be delivered to Teel.

The secretary's lawyer telephoned police that he would bring her to headquarters as soon as Mrs. Nicholas's note was revealed. No charges were planned against her.

Police said they wanted to question the secretary concerning the possibility that Mrs. Nicholas waited for Teel outside the younger woman's apartment Thursday and killed him when he emerged.

Teel was found dying in his Cadillac less than a block from the secretary's apartment. There were three bullets in him, but he stayed alive for at least 15 minutes. Despite police pleas that he name his murderer, Teel refused or was unable to speak.

The search for the twice-married Mrs. Nicholas was launched after a witness said he saw a dark, petite woman jump from Teel's smashed automobile and drive away in a car of her own. Friends of the attractive career woman said she and Teel had been close friends ever since she worked for Eli Lilly and Co. 15 years ago.

Solons Ask Approval Of Planning Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) and Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) Friday asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve $350,000 in planning funds for the proposed DeGray dam and reservoir on the Caddo River in southern Arkansas.

In testimony before the committee they urged that the amount be included in a supplemental appropriation bill.

The project, Fulbright noted, is an integral part of the flood control program for the Ouachita River valley.

As now contemplated, Fulbright said, the proposed dam and reservoir would cost $31,500,000 and provide flood control and water storage of 250 million gallons of water daily and generate 40,000 kilowatts of power. He said about 30 per cent of the cost would be allocated to water supply.

The project was authorized by Congress in 1950 but in 1952 was deferred for the restury.

Harris read Fulbright's statement for him because the Senator was suffering from a sore throat.

SOLDIER ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

BERLIS (UPI)—Pfc. Donald L. Dickey, 39, of Tampa, Fla., was shot accidentally in the chest and is in serious condition in the U.S. Army Hospital the Army announced Friday. The accident occurred when Dickey handed in his rifle to his company's arms room. The rifle discharged when it was being cleared by arms clerk. Kar H. Benson, of Fort Myers, Fla.

Girl's Tatoos Are Denounced

LONDON (UPI)—A British doctor Friday denounced the "tragic mutilation" of young girls who have images of rock 'n' roll singers and their boy friends tatooed on their bodies.

Dr. Derek Bunting, in a letter to the British Medical Journal, said that at least two of three teen-agers a week show up in the emergency ward of Manchester's Ancoate Hospital to plead with doctors to remove the tattoos.

"Tragically, these are not always young boys but on occasion have been 15-year-old girls, bitterly remorseful at the tattoo of some boy friend or well-known entertainer which they cannot erase from their forearms," Bunting said.

NOISE CLAIM DISPUTED

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet civil aviation chief Air Marshal Pavel Zhigarev denied Friday that the Soviet TU104 jetliner is noiser than the U.S. DC6 and demanded Britain approve a Moscow-London air agreement allowing Soviet planes to land in London, Moscow radio reported. Zhigarev said that when measured at Moscow's airport, the propeller-driven DC6 produced 205 deciebels as against only 103 for the TU104, the broadcast reported.

Get Federal Aid For Forest Roads

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Federal aid amounting to $76,147 has been apportioned to Louisiana for the 1960 fiscal year for improvement of highways in and adjacent to Kisatchie National Forest, Highway Director R. B. Richardson has announced.

The Louisiana apportionment is a part of the $33 million assigned for forest highway participating funds for the period beginning July 1, 1959 to 40 states and two territories of the United States.

The Louisiana Department of Highways will match this amount on a 50-50 basis for project programming, Richardson pointed out.

Thirty - one states received larger apportionments than Louisiana, the largest being California, with $4,726,004. Eleven states and one territory, Puerto Rico, received smaller apportionments than Louisiana, with Iowa assigned the smallest, $117.

These funds are administered by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Commerce, through the U. S. Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, with highway departments in each state cooperating.

Apportionment of the funds among the states is made under provisions of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1958 and is according to the area and value of land owned by the federal government with national forests in each state.

Louisiana has only one national forest, Kisatchie, occupying more than a half - million acres of land in central Louisiana, covering parts of five parishes, Rapides, Grant, Vernon, Natchitoches and Winn, Richardson pointed out.

Resignation Of Tenn. Official Accepted By Gov.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Frank Clement said Friday he has accepted the temporary resignation of Maj. Gen. Joe W. Henry Jr. as Tennessee adjutant general pending outcome of Henry's trial in Georgia on charges of drunken driving.

Police at Hinesville, Ga., said they charged Henry with drunken driving, reckless driving and running two stop signs Sunday night.

Henry has been on duty for several days with the Tennessee National Guard at Ft. Stewart but officials there said yesterday he left the base Wednesday to return home. He was unavailable here.

Clement said it has been the consistent policy of his administration to relieve from official duties "until all the facts are known" any person against whom charges are made by reliable authorities.

Clement said Col. Van Nunally will serve as acting adjutant general during Henry's absence.

Hinesville police Chief Dave C. Mobley said Henry was released to military authorities after his arrest. The trial will be held in the mayor's city court at a date to be determined later.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — The market for butcher hogs was fairly active Friday with all interests in the trade and prices were steady to 25 cents higher. Order buyers were unusually active and took almost half the 5,500 head offered.

Strictly No. 1 grade lots were scarce and the top price of $23.25 was paid for 275 head of mixed 1-2 grades weighing 200-230 lbs. The mixed 2s and 3s in the 195-270 lb range were $22.75-23.10 and heavier weights were $22.25 and up.

The market for sows was strong to 25 cents higher and this class cleared at $18.75-22.25.

Steer or heifer sales were too meager to test prices. Vealers were steady and bulls steady to weak. The good and choice vealers brought $28-31 and the utility and standard grades $18-28. Cutter and utility bulls moved at $20-22.

Al sheep classes were steady. A few spring slaughter lambs grading good and choice sold at $23-25.50, the cull to low good at $20-23. Cull to good shorn slaughter ewes were $5-7.

BONDS

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. government bonds ended mixed with a tendency toward the upside in quiet trading Friday. Despite the rally of the past three days, most long term issues recovered less than half the ground lost Monday and Tuesday.

Corporate bonds closed lower with utilities and investment quality issues giving ground. Rails and foreign bonds were steady while industrials eked out a fractional advance. Trading declined to $4,770,000 par value on the big board from $6,730,000 Thursday.

Stocks Forge Ahead To New High For '58

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks forged ahead to new highs for a year, paced by metal shares which responded to an improving price picture.

There were strong spots in the oils, chemicals, camera shares and individual specialties such as American Telephone which climbed to 2 points on investment demand and Schenley Industrials which ran up 2⅛ to a new high on the day's heaviest turnover.

Over-all activity was lighter than Thursday, but still substantial at 3,380,000 shares, compared with 4,440,000.

The amrket after some early hesitancy, resumed the rise which had been interrupted late Thursday by rumors of possible margin increase.

Of a total 1,185 issues appearing on the tape, 658 closed higher; 302 lower.

Alcoa and Reynolds Metals announced price increases of 7-10 cent a pound and their stocks went up 2¼ and 1¾ points, respectively. Kaiser Aluminum and Aluminium rose 1⅞ and 1⅛, respectively. For copper stocks, also helped by an improved price picture, gains ranged to a point or so in Anaconda, Cerro De Pasco, Copper Range, Kennecott.

General Motors was a feature with a gain of ⅞ point on volume which put it in fifth place on the actives. Chrysler improved fractionally while Ford dropped ⅜ point. Chrysler announced Friday purchase of Ford's 15 per cent in Simca, French auto manufacturer.

There were gains in oils of a point or so in Cities Service, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Gulf, Tidewater and Mission Development.

In chemicals, Du Pont, Union Carbide and Olin Mathieson rose around a point while Allied lost nearly 1.

Eastman Kodak gained a point and Bell & Howell was up over 2. Reynolds Tobacco B, General Electric, Revlon, Corning Glass, American Bosch, Freeport Sulphur rose a point to more than 2 points.

Rails had improvement running to 1½ points in Norfolk & Western, nearly a point in Illinois Central and Western Maryland, Texas & Pacific fell 3¼ to 109.

COTTON LETTER

The full House committee was in session yesterday and the fats of the farm bill is expected will be known soon.

Futures suffered from nervous palpitations prior to the weekend, closing with losses of six to 27 points, with July being the weakest.

It was generally believed the House committee version would be somewhat similar to the Senate's bill with the probable exception that the minimum support under choice A would be 80 per cent of parity.

In closing at their life of contract lows, new October and December have now declined nearly 250 points in slightly over a week. They are selling around 380 points under March and May, thus discounting a sizeable portion of any new legislation.

First crop estimate is due in a week, August 8. Trade guesses seem to be 10 and 11 million bales.

Secretary Benson will announce the loan following the estimate. Trade guesses are now around 83 per cent of parity of 35.85 farm level.

WOOL LETTER

The market was very quiet with most operators unwilling to take new positions prior to the weekend, while the London futures market will be closed next Monday and Tuesday for a bank holiday.

Light trade short covering and commission house buying was met with commission house liquidation supplying the bulk of the contracts.

Expectations are that futures will continue relatively inactive next week, becoming more active as the opening at the Australian auctions draws closer.

London futures in very quiet trading declined fractionally.

POULTRY

CHICAGO (AP)—(USDA)—Live poultry no tone; yesterday's receipts were 22,000 lbs; no prices reported due to insufficient information.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

AUTO PRODUCTION

Auto production during July was the lowest for that month in six years, Ward's Automotive Reports said. The statistical agency reported 322,000 cars were turned out during July, against 337,355 in June and 495,625 in July, 1957.

REPUBLIC PRICES

Republic Steel Corp. announced price increases averaging about 3 per cent for its principal carbon and alloy steel products. This marks the first extension of the recent price boost for sheet and strip products. At the same time Reynolds Metals Co. announced it was going along with Aluminum Co. of America in a 0.7-cent a pound increase in pig aluminum prices.

STEEL

The Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee discussed steel price increases, and Chairman Estes Kefauver reported sentiment for hearings on their inflationary impact. However, the Tennessee Democrat told newsmen no action was taken at an informal subcommittee discussion session since Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (D-Ill.) requested that any votes be postponed to an afternoon session.

WOLFSON

Financier Louis E. Wolfson skirted possible criminal prosecution by agreeing to an out-of-court settlement of stock fraud charges lodged against him by the government. The Florida millionaire entered into a consent decree barring him and his associates from further alleged fraudulent dealings in the stock of American Motors Corp.

LOANS

The House killed a Democrat-sponsored anti-recession bill providing 2 billion dollars in loans for local public works projects. The House, by a roll call vote of 187-173, refused to consider the measure, even though its Democratic backers had agreed to go along with amendments to water it down.

POTATOES

CHICAGO (AP)—(USDA)—Potatoes arrivals 74; on track 333; total U.S. shipments 314; supply moderate demand very slow; market dull to slightly weaker; car lot track sales: California whites 3.40-3.60; Idaho Oregon long whites 2.90-3.10; Idaho round reds 2.75; Washington round reds 2.65; Nebraska round reds 2.25.

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures reacted in quiet dealings Friday. Final prices were 30 cents to $1.35 a bale lower.

The market at times appeared nervous as dealers awaited Washington developments on the farm bill.

During initial dealings prices advanced slightly on a carryover of yesterday's buying. The demand was associated with Agriculture Secretary Benson's declaration that price supports for the 1958 crop would have to be boosted after the Aug. 8 production estimate.

When this buying was satisfied traders again started paying attention to the farm bill now being debated by the Agriculture Committee. The final draft is expected to be close to the Senate passed bill which is designed to increase plantings and lower props for the 1959 crop.

Lack of any word concerning a possible hitch in approval of the legislation was responsible for the selling of distant cotton contracts most of the week.

Crop and weather news was mixed. Hot humid weather in many sections of the cotton belt is promoting increased insect activity with rain delaying poisoning operations.

Futures closed 30 cents to $1.35 a bale lower than the previous close.

PUSH LEAD TO 2 GAMES

Roach's Homer Propels Braves Over Giants, 4-2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mel Roach's second major league homer Friday night triggered a mild, two-run sixth-inning uprising that staked the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants who fell two games back in the frantic National League race.

The Milwaukee triumph in the opener of a four-game series put the pressure on the Giants who must win the remaining three games to nudge the Braves out of first place during the stand. The series, the first critical clash of the National League season, ends with a doubleheader on Sunday.

The victory went to Milwaukee's World Series hero, veteran Lew Burdette who needed help in the ninth. The right-hander was tapped for 11 hits after holding the Giants hitless in the first three innings. In taking his 10th victory he fanned eight, and walked only one. He also had a hand in the scoring when his bases-loaded single drove in the fourth Milwaukee run.

In running up his strike out string, Burdette fanned the side in the eighth, as he ran his season total to 60. It was his 10th straight over the Giants who have not beaten him since Sept. 16, 1954 in New York by a score of 6-2. His career record against the Giants is now 17-7.

The big Giant blow off Burdette was a homer by rookie Orlando Cepeda.

The loss, his third against eight victories was charged to lefty Mike McCormick who left in the seventh for a pinch hitter. Paul Giel and Al Worthington finished up. The trio allowed Milwaukee a total of 10 hits.

Roach's homer, also his second of the year, came as he left off in the sixth. A single by Ed Mathews, who reached third on an out and a passed ball, and another single by Frank Torre, scored the second run of the inning.

A single by Joe Adcock, a walk for Johnny Logan and Del Crandall's single produced the game's first run for the Braves in the second.

In the eighth, Adock doubled, and intentional passes put Torre and Crandall on base, bringing in Burdette, whose single wrecked the Giant strategy.

Cepeda hit his 20th homer leading off to pull the Giants into a tie in the fifth and the Giants slipped another run past Burdette in the seventh. Veteran Whitey Lockman batted for McCormick, singled, and moved to second on an infield out. A single by Willie Kirkland scored Lockman.

Burdette left in the ninth with two out and two on base. Don McMahon came on to strike out Willie Mays to end the game.

PLUSH TRAINING

Kin Give Harris Support At Camp

ARROWHEAD SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The home of heavyweight challenger Roy Harris in Cut and Shoot, Tex., is not grossly elegant. Some whisper that it has only period furniture—a few old crates to sit on, for period.

This may be promotion gossip, but when Harris walked into the living room of a sprawling bungalow at his trainging camp he confided to his trainer, Bill Gore:

"Bill, this here rug is as tender as a filet mignon."

The place may resemble nothing quite so little as the old Cut and Shoot homestead, but the danger of homesickness is hardly acute. In five minutes here, you could get a quorum for a Harris family reunion.

First there are Ma and Pa Harris. They arrived Thursday with their youngest son, James Andrew 3, to watch Roy get ready for his Aug. 18 title match with Floyd Patterson.

With them were Pa Harris' two sisters from Ajo, Ariz.

On top of that there's Roy's pretty wife, Jean.

Then there's his brother, Henry, 18. And his sister, Frances, 16, who gives a punching bag demonstration here and had the thing thumping like the pulse of a terrified rabbit.

And there are the two other sisters, Wynee, 13, and Patsie, 8 who turned up for a family picture on two days in Cut and Shoot. After 8:30 p.m. here, you could hear a cigarette ash drop in the next room.

Harris hits the sack then, springs out of it at daybreak.

He puts away an enormous breakfast, then heads out for some roadwork. Then he comes back and eats again.

"He's developed a hollow leg," reported trainer Gore. "He consumes a king-size breakfast ample enough for a passel of cowboys at roundup time."

Later in the day there's the sparring session. Sports Editor Sid Ziff of the Los Angeles Mirror-News gave this analysis of the muscular challenger after sitting in on a session:

"He sparred four brisk rounds with Howard Turner of Brooklyn, a heavyweight who went 10 rounds to a split decision with Zora Foley a year ago.

"He has a swift left jab which he snaps with authority and accuracy. Both hands move fast. When he sees an opening he gets right down to business . . . Turner stooped a few times, as Patterson frequently does, and whenever it happened Harris boomed savage uppercuts into him . . . Harris showed me everything but a (big) punch . . . And he claims he has that."

The camp resents comparisons between Harris and Pete Rademacher, the artless amateur knocked out by Folley last week. Said Harris:

"I would have no more thought in 1955 of taking on Rocky Marciano than I would fly to the moon. I knew I had a trade to learn. Rademacher started at the top and worked down."

In his 22 fights Harris has never been knocked out—never been beaten.

"I'd rather fight like the old boys," he said, "till somebody wins."

Did he mean he'd like to fight Patterson to the finish?

"That's what I mean," he said.

NARROW MARGIN

Yanks Pressed To Lead Poles

WARSAW (AP)—America's relaxed track and field men, touring Europe after the Moscow meet, were sternly pressed Friday to take a narrow 63-54 lead over a surprisingly good Polish national team.

The Americans swept first and second places in four out of 10 individual events for men and also won the 400-meter relay during the first day of the two-day meet.

The American girls moved into a 26-25 lead, which left them only five to seven points better than expected.

A crowd of 105,000—the largest for a track meet since the Olympic Games in Melbourne in 1956—filled and then overflowed the 10th Anniversary Stadium.

The crowd gave the Americans the biggest cheer and reception this correspondent has seen in 35 countries.

The massive crowd got three big treats—a 45.5 clocking by Glenn Davis of Columbus, Ohio, in the 400 meters, a 6-foot 11 inch high jump by Charlie Dumas and a Polish national hammer throw record of 64.41 meters (211 feet, 3.88 inches) by Tadeusz Rut.

Harold Connolly of Boston, who holds the world hammer throw record, finished fourth with a distance of 206 feet 1.29 inches.

Dumas was the biggest single disappointment in Moscow when he finished third. He had declined to follow orthodox training methods on the day of the meet.

If he had jumped in Moscow as well as he did Friday, the United States would have tied the Soviet Union in the over-all scoring introduced by the Russians.

He missed a new world record of 7 feet 1 inch by less than an inch and a half short of his own world record, that gave the American men the lead. They had fallen behind in the eighth event, but a sweep in the broad jump by Ernie Shelby and Bill Jackson of Los Angeles and a victory in the 400-meter relay put the United States ahead again and Dumas cinched it by outjumping Poland's Zbigniew Lewandowski. The other U. S. sweeps came in the high hurdles, the 100-meter dash and the 400-meter run.

The Poles are scoring this meet as two separate dual meets—one for men and one for women—instead of lumping the scores as the Russians did. Points are counted on a 5-3-2-1 basis but only two points are awarded the losing relay teams instead of three as in Moscow.

The American girls won three events against two for Poland and confirmed the improvement they showed in Moscow against the Russians.

Mrs. Earlene Brown, the massive, good-natured Los Angeles housewife, again exceeded her own listed American record in the shot put with a 53 ft. 4.16 in. performance, about 5 inches better than her Moscow put.

But it was the quartet of speedy sprinters from Tennessee State University who swept to an easy 400-meter relay victory in 45 seconds and put the Americans a point ahead at the end of the day.

Just before the impressive opening ceremony, George Eastment of Manhattan College, the American men's head coach, commented, "Our team is completely relaxed after the various pressures on us in Moscow. I wouldn't be surprised if a whole lot of new marks are set either today or tomorrow."

VERSATILE BACK

Northeast Signs Neville's Ragan

Willie Ragan, star Neville back of last season, has signed a grant-in-aid with Northeast State, Athletic Director Jack Rowan announced yesterday.

One of the most versatile backs in the state, the 5-10, 180-pound Ragan played quarterback, half and full at Neville. He led district 2-AA in scoring last year with 83 points on 11 touchdowns and 14 extra points.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ragan Sr. of 201 South Third, Ragan made all-district and all-Twin Cities in 1957. The back, who had earlier signed with Houston, plans to study pharmacy at Northeast.

Ragan joins his former backfield coach at Neville, Jim Coats, at the local college. Coats was appointed backfield coach at Northeast earlier this week.

Ragan is the second outstanding local back to cast his lot with Northeast. Earlier Eddie McGowen, stellar Ouachita halfback, signed with the school.

South Edges North, 13-12, In Prep All-Star Contest

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A heavily favored South team rallied behind hard-running Earl Gros of Terrebonne High in the fourth quarter Friday night to whip the North 13-12 in the annual Louisiana High School all-star football game.

The game rang down the curtain on the annual convention of the Louisiana High School Coaches Assn.

Gros, a 6-1, 205-pound fullback ticketed for Louisiana State University, rammed over for the winning touchdown from the seven, with two minutes left to go. He sparked the drive that covered 67 yards in 14 plays with two 13 yard gallops, in addition to his touchdown run.

The South squad, favored by two touchdowns, brought the crowd of 4,000 to its feet with a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage.

Quarterback J. Y. Mula of Morgan City found fullback Don Smith of Istrouma open deep in South territory and connected on a 67-yard scoring pass play. Smith kicked the point and the South led 7-0.

The North took over and held control until late in the second quarter when quarterback Nolan Viator of Sulphur sparked a touchdown drive with his passing. A four-yard toss from Viator to halfback John Mercer of Bossier City accounted for the touchdown. Fullback Roland Jackson of Ruston failed to kick the extra point.

The South led at halftime 7-6.

The North continued to hold sway throughout the third period and was on its way to a touchdown, but the drive ended when Jackson failed to crack the South line from the one.

The North go-ahead touchdown came midway in the fourth quarter when quarterback Donald Breaux of LaGrange and Mercer generating the power. The touchdown came when Jackson boomed over from the one with eight minutes left.

The South took the following kickoff and with Gros shattering the North line had the winning touchdown 14 plays later.

Bahama Gets Off Floor To Defeat Miceli

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Yama Bahama of the British West Indies withstood two first round knockdowns and came back to score a unanimous 10-round decision over tiring Joe Miceli of New York Friday night. Both fighters weighed 153.

The 29-year-old New Yorker caught Bahama with a flashing left uppercut in the opening moments of the first round. All Bahama could do was bear-hug Miceli.

Again in the opening three minutes, Miceli caught the plodding Britisher with the upswinging left hook. Here again Bahama grabbed his opponent's waist and the fighters and Referee Joe Palmer walked off the ropes.

Bahama weathered the battering and moved his offensive to Miceli's body in the middle rounds.

In the eighth Bahama brought cheers from the 1,276 fans when he sent Miceli to the canvas with an overhand right.

Miceli began to tire in the middle rounds. He appeared to rely entirely on his left hook and was in trouble when he began to measure the solid Bimini battler.

Miceli claimed he slipped when Bahama set him down for an eight-count in the eighth. He continually sent disgusted shrugs to his corner when he missed with his looping lefts.

Referee Palmer awarded the fight to Bahama on a 7-2-1 basis. Judge Harold McGrath saw it 6-3-1, and Dick Fazio favored Bahama 7-3. The AP card was 7-2-1 in favor of Bahama.

The fight which was broadcast and televised nationally, was a hurried replacement for the Tony Anthony-Archie McBride heavyweight match which was canceled Monday when Anthony was declared unfit physically.

Fullmer Will Battle Webb In September

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Ex-champion Gene Fullmer and sixth-ranked Spider Webb of Chicago battle here Sept. 11 in a fight Fullmer's manager says should produce the most logical contender for the middleweight crown.

"This will be the top middleweight fight of the year," said Marv Jenson. "I'd say it will be a sort of unofficial championship fight because it doesn't look like Sugar Ray Robinson will defend his title right away. I feel like Robinson is retired right now."

Jenson said if Fullmer wins, he'll demand a title fight.

Fullmer, who won and lost the title last year, is ranked third in the middleweight division behind Sugar Ray and Carmen Basilio. He has been training for another crack at the title for 18 months.

The match between Fullmer and Webb is a natural for this area.

Webb was an NCAA boxing champion at Idaho State College in Pocatello and has a host of fans in this region. Fullmer, the hard-hitting Mormon from West Jordan, put Utah on the boxing map.

Spieser To Box Twice In Europe

DETROIT (AP)—Chuck Spieser, Detroit light heavyweight, will fight twice in Germany in late September or early October.

The 27-year-old Spieser, ranked among the top ten although he has not fought since February, will meet Germany's Willi Hoepner at Stuttgart in the first fight. Spieser knocked out Hoepner in 2 rounds at Milwaukee 18 months ago.

The second fight also will be at Stuttgart, Spieser's manager-brother Joe said, but he doesn't know who the opponent will be.

In his last fight Spieser won a 10-round decision over Bobby Lane of Miami.

BIGGEST LEAD OF YEAR

Turley, Skowron Defeat Pale Sox

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Turley pitched, Moohe Skowron hit and the New York Yankees breezed to a 7-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Friday night to open up their biggest lead this season—a whopping 16½ games.

The Yankees, the only team in the American League playing better than .500 ball, not only have made a shambles of the pennant race but are threatening to better the flag winning record of 19½ games set by their 1936 predecessors.

A crowd of 38,832—largest of the year in Comiskey Park—saw Turley turn in his fifth shutout of the season on a brilliant five hits. It was his 16th triumph against only four losses.

Skowron headed New York's nine-hit attack with his ninth homer, a sacrifice fly, a double, a single and four runs batted in. His second inning homer—the 23rd off of Pierce this season—was an upper deck blast and turned out to be all Turley needed.

Skowron made it 2-0 in the fourth with a sacrifice fly after catcher Elston Howard had tripled off the center field wall. The Yanks added another in the seventh when Skowron doubled, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on Tony Kubek's infield bounder. Three more Yankee runs came home in the eighth when Skowron singled with the bases loaded and Gil McDougald slammed out a sacrifice fly.

Bums Explode In 9th, Beat Redlegs, 6-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Los Angeles' Dodgers swept through four relievers in the ninth inning Friday night like water through a sieve, coming from behind for a 6-2 victory over Cincinnati's Redlegs.

Redlegs castoff Johnny Klippstein, with a double-play to help him, finished off Cincinnati in the last of the ninth.

The loss weakened the Reds' hold on third place in the National League.

The Dodgers banged out five hits, punching out five runs in the ninth.

Haddix had doled out only five hits—one was Carl Furillo's homer—before yielding to pinch hitter Smoky Burgess in the seventh.

Brooks Lawrence, who took over, had trouble getting started. He worked his way out of a two-hit threat in the eighth, but fell apart in the ninth.

With one out, Duke Snider walked and Norm Larker singled. Alex Kellner took over the Redleg pitching duties.

Charlie Neal promptly pinch hit a single that loaded the bases.

Bob Purkey, the Reds' winningest front-liner, tried his hand at pitching but Don booted a grounder by Jim Gilliam and another run was in.

A sacrifice fly by PeeWee Reese and singles by Don Zimmer and Gil Hodges brought in three more Dodger runs before the fourth and final Redleg relief hurler, Hal Jeffcoat, came on and shut off the inning.

Up to that late outburst, the game had been a sedate pitchers' battle. Cincinnati had picked up a 2-1 lead with a two-run seventh that ended the day for starter Danny McDevitt.

McDevitt walked catcher Ed Bailey and Burgess pinch hit a scoring double. Burgess went on to third on a putout and scored on Pete Whisenant's single.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Last-place Washington shellacked the Kansas City Athletics 10-4 Friday night behind the steady pitching of Pedro Ramos and Dick Hyde.

Jim Lemon hit two home runs that brought his season total to 22 and Roy Sievers blasted his 27th round tripper.

Ramos, who evened his pitching record at 9-9, struck out five, walked only one and pitched his way out of trouble in the fifth and seventh innings.

Ruston Legion Juniors Play At Alexandria

RUSTON, La. (Special) — The Ruston American Legion Juniors invade Alexandria tonight for the first meeting of their state semi-final series with an Alexandria club that has been forced to go three games, latest a sweep of a series with Opelousas in the state regional playoff.

Coach Clyde Berry takes his T. L. James Contractors of Ruston into the Alexandria series with a 20-1 record for the season, the lone loss being an early season decision to Monroe's defending state champions who later were dethroned by Ruston in the Fifth District race.

Second game of the series is slated here Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at Fraser Field. A third game, if necessary, will be played here. Baton Rouge and New Orleans teams are playing in the other half of the state semi-finals.

Charles Fuller is due to pitch tonight for Ruston, with Ronnie Marrus expected to get the Monday assignment here.

Two Records Are Bettered

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Two U.S. records were bettered and the defending champion retained her diving title in the National AAU Senior Women's Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships Friday.

The record-setters were Sylvia Ruuska, 16, Berkeley, Calif., YMCA, who won the 1500-meter freestyle race and Molly Botkin, 14, Los Angeles Athletic Club, in the preliminaries of the 100-meters freestyle.

Miss Ruuska swam the 1500 meters in 20:34.6, bettering the listed U.S. record of 20:53.5 held by defending champion Carolyn Murray, Kris Kristensen Swim School, North Hollywood, Calif., was third Friday.

Miss Botkin swam the 100-meters in 1:03.8, bettering the U. S. record of 1:06.1.

Defending champion Paula Jean Myers, Encino, Calif., Swim Club, retained her one-meter diving title with 139.60 points.

Civic League

The Monroe Jaycees clinched first place in the Civic Softball League last night with a 16-5 defeat of second place Progressive Men's Club. A win by the Progressives would have tied up the leadership.

Fishman and Ballard shared three-hit pitching for the Jaycees with Jones catching. "Brooklyn" Sylvestri was the losing pitcher. Waler, Weaver, and Ballard his homers for the Jaycees, but Bill Anders was the leading batsman with 3-for-4.

TO FACE ARGENTINA

Richardson Gets Call To Cuppers

NEW YORK (AP) — The U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn. Friday called upon Ham Richardson, who hasn't shown much interest in Davis Cup tennis, to help get the American team into the challenge round.

Also named were big Barry MacKay, Whitney Reed and Sammy Giammalva. They will oppose Argentina in the American Zone final at Rye, N. Y., Aug. 15-17. The winning team will go to Australia in December for the Interzone final against the winner of a round between the European Zone champions and the Philippines, the Eastern Zone champions.

Richardson went to Australia with a 1954 U. S. Davis Cup team but didn't play in the challenge round. Since playing at Forest Hills in 1955, when he won the singles, he has declined to make the trip to Australia. First he said his obligations as a Rhodes scholar at Oxford University prevented his making the trip. Then he said he wouldn't go unless his wife could accompany him.

A few days ago Richardson said he still wasn't interested in going to Australia next December. He now is living in Arlington, Va., and working as a research assistant to Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana in Washington. His job, Ham said, probably would keep him from going.

MacKay, ranked No. 5 in the nation, and Giammalva, who is making a fine comeback this year after dropping from 7 to 16 in the rankings, all were members of the U.S. team that beat Canada in the semifinal round of American Zone competition.

It was considered risky to send such an inexperienced team against Argentina. The Americans won, 5-0. Argentina, led by Enrique Morea, appears stronger. Morea has played top-rank opponents in Europe and the United States and could cause trouble. He won over Ham Richardson in the U.S. Davis Cup players his teammates, Eduardo Soriano and Ernesto Rios have an extensive experience on grass courts.

TABLE HOUSE BILL

Pro Sports' Freedom Bid At Washington Collapses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pro sports' high - powered effort to shake off antitrust law restrictions collapsed Friday. Four senators knocked it out for this session of Congress.

The Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee, by a 4-2 vote, tabled a House-passed bill that would have given professional baseball football, basketball and hockey many liberties under laws curbing ordinary businesses.

The vote to all intents and purposes ended the campaign for a sports bill this year. Only by extraordinary—and at this point totally unexpected—action could the measure be dragged out of the subcommittee's dead file.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) moved to shelve the bill which had swept through the House without even a roll call. He was supported by subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), Sens. William Langer (R ND) and Alexander Wiley (R-Wis).

Sens. John A. Carroll (D-Colo) and Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) voted to keep the bill alive.

Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo), seventh member of the subcommittee and a proponent of the House bill, was absent.

Hennings had rounded up 49 other senators on a separate bill providing the same broad exemptions as the House measure, but that fell flat, too.

Baseball supported the legislation vigorously in House and Senate hearings, even though the national pastime is now wholly exempt from the antitrust laws.

The Supreme Court, however, indicated last year that baseball might not retain its immunity if another case arose. At that time the court was holding that pro football, and by implication other sports, are bound by antitrust regulations.

Warren C. Giles, president of baseball's National League, was the first in the sports world to comment on Friday's development.

"I am very disappointed," Giles told a newsman at Cincinnati. "I had hopes and every reason to believe that favorable action would be taken."

Giles and others in sports, including club owners and spokesmen for major league baseball players, lost out in what amounted to a race with the clock.

Congress is thinking of adjourning in another week or two, and little time remains to thrash out differences.

"I feel it would be possible, if we had time, to work out a bill that might be acceptable to sports and the public," Kefauver said. "This is a complicated matter and deserves more consideration by this subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee."

O'Mahoney commented the nation is confronted with steel price increases that may raise the cost of living for everyone and said, "We should not yield in these hectic last days of the session to club owners who see a pot of gold at the end of the TV and radio rainbow."

The House bill would have permitted the sports to limit TV-radio broadcasts of their games. Minor league baseball had complained the competition of free major league television was destroying them at the gate.

Critics of the provision argued it was too far reaching, enough so to allow sports officials to black out most of the nation.

Carroll had proposed granting baseball the proposed exemptions for one year, in order to give the leagues a chance to develop an acceptable TV-radio plan with the Justice Department.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick had proposed reinstating an old rule which prevented conflict with television in the area of a minor league game.

Carroll said a year's grace would give baseball a chance "to clean its own house" and enable Congress to determine whether the sport had justified antitrust law freedoms.

PLAY MONROE TONIGHT

Jefferson Beats Abbeville, 8 To 4

The Ward Seven team of Jefferson Parish spotted Abbeville four runs in the first inning and shut out their south Louisiana rivals the rest of the way for an 8-4 victory and a chance at Northside of Monroe in the state championship Little League title finals here tonight.

Monroe's Little Leaguers got a bye into the finals when Lake Charles withdrew because of an alert at the Lake Charles air base, it was reported here, so Jefferson Parish and Abbeville appeared in yesterday's only game.

After seeing Abbeville away to a four-run lead in the first inning, Jefferson Parish came back quickly to take command with seven runs in the second inning, and coasted from there.

Neither starting pitcher was around for the finish. Myers started for Jefferson, faced six batters without retiring a man and gave way to Matranga who finished fo rthe victory. Myers staye din the game as a catcher and, with Troncoso, shared the lead in his club's batting attack with two hits.

Duhon, Abbeville's starting hurler, was shelled in the big Jefferson inning, and Landry came in to keep Jefferson in control the rest of the way. Landry was also the leading Abbeville batter with two hits. Jefferson Parish meet at 7 o'clock this evening in their champioship game. The winner advances to the national regional tournament to be played in Alabama.

The contending players will be feted at a barbecue dinner today at Forsythe Park, beginning about 11 a.m.

Score by innings:

Abbeville	400 000—4	6	6
Jefferson	070 10x—8	5	5

Kline Tips Mabe In Hurling Duel

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A two-run Pirate rally in the eighth inning broke up a pitching duel Friday night between Bob Mabe and Ronnie Kline as the Pirates defeated the sagging St. Louis Cardinals 2-0.

Kline pitched a brilliant four-hitter in posting his fourth straight victory and 11th of the season. He's lost nine.

Mabe also pitched fine ball for seven innings before yielding four singles in the eighth. He suffered his fourth defeat without a major league victory.

Roberto Clementel who had three hits, beat out an infield roller with one out in the eighth. Dick Stuart singled and after Frank Thomas flied out Bob Skinner laced a single to right, scoring Clemente. Bill Mazeroski followed with another run-scoring single.

The Pirates backed Kline with some outstanding fielding and alert plays. Irv Noren was the victim of fine catches by outfielders Clemente and Skinner. Thomas retrieved a wild relay on Joe Cunningham's double to right and threw him out as the Cardinal attempted to make third. In the same inning Kline walked Ennis, then picked him off at first.

Kline, the most consistent finisher of the Pirate staff, struck out five while walking only three.

Before the eighth the 28-year-old Mabe was in trouble only twice. Clemente doubled to open the fourth but he advanced no further as Mabe easily retired the next three batters.

Clemente, who had three hits, opened the sixth with a single and Stuart chipped in with another. Mabe then struck out Thomas and got Skinner to ground into a double play.

Cardinal Manager Fred Hutchinson, who has been complaining that his team lacks punch, benched Stan Musial in favor of Joe Cunningham to give Musial a rest. Stan flied out in a pinch hitting role in the eighth.

BAD KNEE

Selvy Quitting Pro Cage Ranks

By DAN ROTH

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fabled Frank Selvy, one of college basketball's greatest scorers, quit professional basketball Friday after a brief career of controversy instead of fame.

Selvy, twice an Associated Press All-America from Furman University, told owner Ben Kerner of the world champion St. Louis Hawks that a service-caused knee injury partly prompted his retirement decision.

"It's a shame to lose a player of Selvy's potential," Kerner said. "I did everything I could to give the guy a chance." Kerner said Selvy had decided against having his knee operated on.

The 6-3 jump-shooting Selvy averaged 19 points in 1954-55, in his freshman season with the pros.

And it seemed Frank was on the fringe of stardom. But in the fall of 1955 Frank went into the Army for a two-year hitch. That's where he sprained his right knee. And in the service, Kerner maintains, is where "Frank lost it."

"He didn't shoot enough after he came back from the service," Kerner said. Paradoxically, Selvy was known as a bullseye "gunner" in his college days. That's when he set 24 major scoring records and 41 other minor marks.

Coach Alex Hannum, once Selvy's roommate when they played for Milwaukee, benched Selvy after his comeback.

Kerner didn't like it. Neither did the St. Louis fans and they told the Hawks' front office so in letters and telephone calls.

Eventually, Kerner put Selvy on the farm-out roster but recalled him after two injuries crippled star backliner Slater Martin.

But Hannum still didn't play Selvy.

That's when the schism between Kerner and Hannum developed. To Hannum, Selvy belonged on the bench. To Kerner, Selvy belonged in the line-up.

Kerner, a shrewd man with a dollar, figured he had a big investment in Selvy. He paid $12,000 for Frank when the Baltimore franchise folded and Selvy's yearly salary was reportedly $10,000.

Hannum and Kerner parted last year despite the fact that Kerner had a world champion team. He hired Boston Celtic Andy Phillip as a coach.

Shortly after the season Kerner traded Selvy to Minneapolis in a conditional deal. But Selvy turned up again with the Hawks when the Lakers could land Dick Boushka or Terry Rand, AAU players.

Selvy plans to work for a firm manufacturing basketball shoes.

Venturi Cards 65 To Nab Lead In Chicago Tourney

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Ken Venturi snagged the first round lead of the $50,000 Chicago Open Friday with a 5-under-par 65 while Billy Casper, the PGA's second leading money winner, provided contrast with a ten on one hole for an 80.

Casper's big inning came on the 330-yard 11th when his tee shot meshed into a bush. He took three swipes at the ball before deciding to lift it and take a two-stroke unplayable lie penalty.

The studious play of Venturi and the carefree antics of Casper, who has won $30,223 this season, typified the start of the competition for a $9,000 first prize over the Glenaaglespublic fee course.

Casper wasn't alone in his 10. It was equalled by pro Marty Magnani of Chicago who started the fifth hole by hitting out of bounds three times.

Following on Venturi's heels, were a pair of lesser-known performers with 66s. They were Bob Harris, a Chicago club pro, and Joe Conrad, who like Venturi, is trying to break out of a slump. Conrad, a San Antonio product and 1955 British Amateur champion, has won only $2,292 this season. His best effort was a tie for eighth in Baton Rouge.

Then at 67 came Don Whitt of Alameda, Calif., who gained acclaim by making the PGA semifinals last year, and Doug Sanders of Miami, Fla.

Grouped at 68 were Don Fairfield, Don January, Freddie Haas, Marty Furgol and Jack Burke.

In all, 20 broke par of 35-35—70 on the 6,350-yard playground.

Among those trying to avoid being also-rans were Sam Snead, Don Finsterwald and Dick Mayer with 70s; Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler and Lionel Hebert with 71s; Arnold Palmer, the PGA money-winning leader, and Tommy Bolt, the National Open champion, with 72s.

Hovering over the entire field was a helicopter, running photos from the scene to newspapers in Chicago, 35 miles away.

Bolt didn't like it, but the best he could say for publication was: "It's a new hazard."

Venturi finished the 18th when the copter clattered over the green.

"When is somebody going to shoot that thing down?" he said.

Venturi, whose faulty putting has kept him in a slump the last three months, snapped out of it with his 65.

Although par 35-35—70 proved tougher than expected because the pins were set far back on the treacherous greens, the 27-year-old Venturi led a good-sized wrecking crew against it.

Venturi, who has been in the top 10 only twice in his last 13 tournaments after starting the year in spectacular style, hit 16 of Gleneagles' trying greens in regulation, strung out five one-putt greens, and strayed into the matted rough only four times.

He slammed a 31 on the front side, getting birdies on the fourth with a 12-foot putt, on the sixth by holing a 40-foot chip, on the eighth with a six-footer after blasting from a trap and on the ninth by chipping a yard from the cup.

A 14-foot putt trickled in for another birdie on the 10th. He three-putted the 13th but salvaged par then rammed in a 30-footer for another bird on 14.

His only bogey came on the 200-yard 17th when he three-putted and he finished the back nine in 34.

OVER CUBS

Roberts Hurls 200th Win, 3-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts won his 200th game for Philadelphia Friday night in a manner reminiscent of his greatest years. The right-hander allowed three hits and struck out six as the Phillies whipped the Chicago Cubs 3-1 before 16,258 fans at Connie Mack Stadium.

Roberts, in his 11th season with the Phillies, won his 11th game against nine defeats, his sixth victory in his last seven decisions. He became the 59th major league hurler to pass the 200 triumph mark. He has lost 151 games.

His performance was marred by a Roberts' trademark — the home run pitch. Dale Long belted one to left in the fifth inning. Otherwise, Roberts, whose record disintegrated to 10-22 in 1957, was virtually untouchable. He didn't walk a batter.

Roberts, 31, joins two other active major league pitchers in the 200-game class, Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves has a 237-153 record; Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox has won 244 lost 197. Bob Lemon started the season with 207 victories but since has left Cleveland for San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Robin was thinking about 300 victories after the game.

"If I can keep pitching the way I have," he said, "I might make it. "My arm really feels fine now. I'm throwing with that easy motion."

The easy motion was a complex puzzle to the Cubs, who have been hard on Roberts and the Phillies this season. The game was Roberts' first 1958 victory against Chicago. Last year he beat the Cubs twice, lost four times.

The Phillies sewed up the triumph with a two-run sixth inning which Harry Anderson started with a single. He scored on Ed Bouchee's single between first and second. Chico Fernandez tripled in Bouchee and knocked out Cubs' starter Dave Hillman. Hillman's loss was his third against two victories.

The Phillies opened the game with a run when Anderson doubled across Solly Hemus who walked.

Cubs' catcher Sammy Taylor left the game in the ninth when a foul tip tore his right hand. Col Neeman replaced him.

Chicago's Walt Moryn doubled in the second but was put out leaving second and Al Dark singled with two out in the sixth for the other Cub hit.

Gail Harris Bats Tigers Past Orioles

DETROIT (AP)—Gail Harris, a National League castoff, drove in all the Detroit runs Friday night and Herb Moford scattered five Baltimore Oriole hits in a 3-1 Tiger victory.

Harris socked a two-run homer in the first inning and brought across an insurance run with an eighth inning sacrifice fly. His hitting decided a tight pitching duel between Oriole southpaw Jack Harshman and Moford, a veteran of many minor league seasons.

Moford, getting a chance as a starter with the Tigers after spending most of his career in the St. Louis farm system, yielded a run in the fourth inning on Al Pilarcik's double and Bob Nieman's single through the box. Other than that he did not allow more than one hit in any inning. Since he became a starter, Moford has won two out of three games.

Harris hit his home run after a single by Al Kaline. It was the first baseman's 10th of the season, his fifth against Baltimore.

In the ninth Billy Martin reached first on a fielder's choice and went to third on Kaline's double before Harris brought him home with a fly to center.

Harshman went all the way and lost his ninth, although he struck out seven.

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Coach Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants of the National Football League, said Thursday that Bob Mischak, former West Point halfback and end, would be shifted to offensive guard. The Giants are training at Willamette College here.

In his new position Mischak is expected to fill part of the vacancy brought about by the retirement of Ray Beck, former Georgia Tech lineman, and Bill Austin, one-time Oregon State great.

Bossier Defeats Monroe Teeners

Monroe eliminated Bastrop, 12-4, but then fell to unbeaten Bossier, 10-1, in the finals of the regional VFW Teener League tournament at Bossier City Thursday night.

Neal Gunn starred in both games for Monroe, pitching a four-hitter for the triumph over Bastrop, allowing only two hits in relief in the second game and hit 5 - 6 for the two contests. He got 3-4 against Bastrop and then hit a double and triple in the finale.

Ramsey started for Bastrop in the first game and Murray came on in the second. McGough caught for Bastrop and Eddie Kincaid worked behind the plate for Monroe.

L. M. Welch started for Monroe in the final game against Bossier's sensational Cecil Upshaw. Upshaw allowed only five hits in the nightcap, finished at 12:15 a.m. Gunn relieved Welch in the fourth.

Bossier advances to the national tournament at Hershey, Pa., which will start Aug. 10.

RUN STREAK TO 6

Cleveland Takes Pair From Bosox

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito's 23rd home run with a man on in the seventh inning—only one of two hits Cleveland made off Boston's Dick Sisler—carried the Indians to a 3-1 second game victory over the Red Sox and a doubleheader sweep Friday night.

The Indians won the opener 7-1 with a seven-run flurry in the seventh inning off Frank Sullivan and Murray Wall. Colavito also socked a two-run homer in that contest. Minnie Minoso hit a three-run homer and Russ Nixon drove in two runs with a double.

Both rookie left - hander Hal Woodeshick in the night cap and veteran Cal McLish in the opener hurled four-hitters. The double triumph extended the Tribe's longest winning streak of the season to six.

Sisler gave up a walk to Mickey Vernon preceding Colavito's game winning shot, which carried into the upper left field stands. The first hit for Cleveland was a single by Vic Power in the third frame.

The Red Sox scored first in the opening inning on a walk to Don Buddin, Jackie Jensen's double and an infield out.

The Indians tied it up in their half of the first without a hit. Bobby Avila and Gary Geiger walked and Power tapped in front of the plate but was safe when Sisler fumbled the ball. Minoso scored Avila with a sacrifice fly to right field.

From then on Sisler and Woodeshick, who won his third against one loss, matched zeroes until Colavito's poke. Mike Fornieles hurled the eighth for Boston.

Williamsport Planning New Little Field

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Little League baseball soon will have a permanent home of its own.

It was disclosed Friday that work will begin immediately on a stadium and office building to be located on a 29-acre site in South Williamsport.

The land, a gift, is being purchased by the Grit Publishing Co. as a memorial to Howard J. Lamade, for many years a member of the board of directors of Little League Baseball, Inc. Lamade was vice president and secretary of the publishing company.

Peter J. McGovern, president of Little League baseball, an international baseball program for boys 9 to 12, described the construction program as "the finest thing that has ever happened to Little League.

"It means that Williamsport, birthplace of the program, will continue permanently as its home," he said.

Action to provide Little League with a home of its own began early last June when it became known that league headquarters had received offers to move to Brooklyn's Ebbets Field or New York City's Polo Grounds.

The new field will be ready for the 1959 Little League World Series when the program celebrates its 20th anniversary.

In addition to the field and the administration building, Little League is studying long range plans which would provide a museum and housing facilities for the youngsters who play in the series each year.

This year's series is scheduled for August 19-22 on a field in the neighborhood area where the program began. Little League now has 4,800 leagues in operation in the United States and foreign countries.

Skipper Says Patterson's Form Is Off

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Manager Cus D'Amato said Friday heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's condition is disappointing.

"He hasn't looked the way I would like," D'Amato said, "but I have no intention of asking for a postponement of the title fight Aug. 18 in Los Angeles with Roy Harris."

D'Amato blamed the champion's poor training camp showing on changing the date of the fight from Aug. 4 to Aug. 18.

"Floyd was pointing for the Aug. 4 date and then he laid off," D'Amato said.

"He's been slow in his training, but we have three weeks left.

"He'll be ready for Harris Aug. 18. He's always bene ready for his fights."

There has been talk in boxing circles that D'Amato, upset because of Patterson's condition would like to postpone the fight.

This brought a blistering denial from promoter Bill Rosensohn.

"There'll be no postponement," Rosensohn said. "D'Amato hasn't asked for any and we don't intend to change the date. There's too much invested in the fight."

Harris, the pride of Cut and and Shoot, Tex., has impressed sportswriters with his workouts at Arrowhead Springs, high in the San Bernardino Mountains.

Davis Added To Louisiana College Staff

PINEVILLE, La. (Special) — Personnel of Louisiana College's 1958-59 athletic staff was completed this week with the announcement of the appointment of Tommy Davis, successful young Mississippi high school mentor, as assistant football and head track coach.

The announcement was made by Dr. G. Earl Guinn, L. C. president.

The 24-year-old Davis replaces Bobby Joe Oswalt, who resigned last spring to accept the position of athletic director at East Central Junor College, Decatur, Miss.

Last season Davis served as line coach at Meridian (Miss.) High school and played an important role in the school's undefeated season. The Meridian eleven had a 10-0 record but failed to win the Big Eight High School title because of a tie.

It marked the second Meridian High coach to join the Louisiana College staff for next year. On June 1, Bill Knight, former basketball mentor there, began his new duties as head Wildcat cage mentor.

Young Davis is a native of Calhoun City, Miss. He graduated from this city's high school where he starred in both football and basketball.

He completed his B. A. degree at Mississippi College in 1955. Prior to that he attended East Mississippi Junior College and sparkled in football.

LAWN - BOY CLEARANCE!

NOT THE "CHEAPEST" BUT BY FAR THE BEST VALUE (AND, IN THE LONG RUN, THE LOWEST COST POWER MOWER YOU CAN BUY)

WHAT'S THE CATCH? WHY ARE SOME OVER-SIZED JUMBO MOWERS (24" AND ABOVE) BEING OFFERED AT WHAT SEEMS TO BE "UNBELIEVEABLE" BARGAIN PRICES?

The simple catch is this . . . there's a Federal excise tax on power mowers up to 24" in width. Above this there is no tax. Some manufacturers—new-comers to the lawn mower industry and out for a fast buck,—have jumped at the opportunity to build 24" or larger mowers just to avoid the excise tax. True, there's no law against this, but little regard was given to the shortcomings which many of the oversize jumbo mowers have. Crankshaft bending is rare on rotary mowers under 21" widths. When you leave this commonsense size to go to longer blades, the hazard of crankshaft bending multiplies with each additional inch of width. (This applies only to mowers where the cutter blade is fastened directly to the crankshaft of the engine.) Many of the over-width jumbos are having their woes with bent crankshafts. Aside from this annoying and expensive repair job, you should hear the complaints about how hard they are to push in a good stand of grass. Before you buy that bargain, hadn't you better do a little checking?

Comments On Third Term Win In Ark.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus Friday said he didn't think his overwhelming third-term victory in Tuesday's Democratic primary would encourage any resistance to integration in the South "that wasn't already there, but it may encourage the people to fight with greater hope."

Faubus was asked about speculation that the Tuesday vote might serve to boom Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) as the Democratic choice for President in 1960.

He replied that "I think that observation has a good basis foundation. Once there is an awakening of the people I don't think the nation or the South will accept a leftwinger like Harriman or Humphrey."

The reference was to New York's Gov. Averell Harriman and Minnesota's Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, both of whom have been critical of Faubus' racial stand.

"Johnson will not bow to the minority groups and he knows the art of compromise in government," Faubus said.

Faubus did not say he personally favored Johnson or any other possible Democratic candidate.

Of comment in some quarters that his renomination might split the Democratic party, Faubus declared that "there is only one group that can split the party—it is the left wingers. The Democratic party is stronger in the South than it has been in 10 years."

Ambassador From Iraqi Is In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI) — The new Iraqi ambassador to the United Arab Republic said on his arrival here that "the Iraqi Republic will play its part in the realization of complete Arab unity."

Faik el - Samerrai, arrived on Thursday by way of Damascus, where he disclosed that his government intended to run new pipe lines through Syria under a plan to increase oil production. He said the new lines would end on the Syrian shore.

"Iraq has the part of an Arab nation," he said. "All Arabs have a common destiny. Our real salvation is complete Arab unity."

The UA.AR. announced it has appointed El Sayyed Fahmy, former undersecretary for foreign affairs, as the new ambassador to Iraq. He was to leave for Baghdad Friday.

Waistline Up Skirts Down Says 'Dior'

By GAY PAULEY

PARIS (UPI) — Dior's dropped hemlines raised the eyebrows of some American buyers but won endorsement from others today.

"I think the longer skirts were the one point of contrariness in the collection," said Marjorie Reich, fashion administrator for Macy's, New York.

"Paris designers are on such a tremendous youth kick. . .with Brigitte Bardot style models instead of those tall gaunt types," she said. "The longer skirts went against all this. And I think the American woman is just beginning to enjoy short skirts anyway."

A. Walker, president of Holt Renfrew Co. of Canada, reacted differently.

"An elegant collection," said Walker, who said he is taking 25 Dior originals back with him. "They are what my customers like."

Can't Assess Effects

Stanley Marcus, vice - president of Neiman - Marcus, Dallas, Tex., took a middle-of-the-road position.

He called Yves St. Laurent designs "authoritative" but said he could not yet "assess the effects of the lower hemline."

Buyers in Paris to see the fall and winter collections caught the Dior show late Thursday after the press preview.

It created an immediate sensation because St. Laurent daringly lowered hemlines five inches to 15 inches from the floor, while the rest of the haute couturiers still were showing them at the knee.

But he climbed on the bandwagon to feature the high-waisted empire look as No. 1 for fall.

Will Sell

Bravely following Dior on schedule Thursday, designer Jacques Griffe came up with the "cornet" silhouette. This one flares from the high waist — a refreshing change from all the short ones throughout the other collections.

"I'm glad to see all Paris designers recognize a dame is a dame," said Mrs. Reich. "And I thought Dior's raised waistline was beautiful. But I wasn't enthusiastic about the whole collection."

But Ethel Frankau, buyer for the custom department at Bergdorf-Goodman's, New York, said "the long length and the slim skirt will sell. And I'm happy to see the house so hat-conscious."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Constant 'No-Nos' Cause Frustration

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. G. W. R. writes, "From the time a baby starts crawling and getting into everything, is it better to take him away from things, move them out of reach or teach him how to handle them? I shall be interested in your comment."

The answer is that you do all three. When he is so young that he merely hangs onto things, to give himself support, and has no real curiosity about them, you move the fragile object out of reach and see that there are no hanging scarves or anything such as a tablecloth, which he can hang onto and pull off the table.

Begin Teaching

When he is old enough to walk about and pull himself up and begins to handle what he sees on the tables — then you can begin the long process of teaching him what is his and what is yours.

You do this by having just a few objects to tempt him and everything else goes out of reach. Then when he touches it you say, "That is Mommy's — put your hands behind you when you look at it." Then you quickly give him something that is his and say, "This is Baby's. This is for you.'

If you have only a few ornaments within reach, you can pursue this relentlessly until he puts his hands behind him when you say, "No no, don't touch, that is Mommy's."

If everything he wants to touch is taboo, then he becomes so frustrated at the constant "no-no's" and the "don't touch" routine, that soon he goes berserk and begins to pull and throw in all directions. You have to give any small child an over-balance of things he can do and objects he can touch to counter those which he can't touch (like electrical equipment and Mommy's best books, etc.)

Freedom Good

It is good for a child to have the freedom of a room in which to crawl as this is the healthy preliminary to walking. In order to make it easy for him to navigate without too many directions from you, it is sensible to move easily shattered objects out of reach, and move small tables or light chairs too frail to support him just so his adventures will be happy ones.

And always children should have some objects in every room which are their very own—some books and magazines, some kitchen utensils — which they can go to and touch and handle without anyone once saying, "Keep hands off." That's the way they learn.

If you would like to have our 10-cent booklet "Obedience and Punishment" send 10 cents and a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Cleanliness Is Next To Godliness

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I've been married 10 years and my husband has become so careless about his personal habits that it's making me sick. He sleeps in his underwear and I can't get it away from him to put it in the washing machine. He doesn't take a bath for months at a time. He wears his work shirts for two weeks straight.

He calls me "cold" and says it is grounds for divorce because I refuse to have anything to do with him. I told him to clean himself up and then talk about romance. He says if I really loved him I wouldn't be so fussy.

Please, Ann, help me before our marriage falls apart. Even our two youngsters stay away from him. He says put them up to it, which is not true. What can I do about a man who is so helplessly lazy?—SUFFERING WIFE

This is more than just "lazy" —this is sick sick sick.

Your husband should see a doctor, and get back on the track. Cleanliness is more than just a matter of personal pride; it involves consideration for others. A person's right to bathe "when he feels like it" ends where the other fellow's nose begins.

Move the pole-cat into the guest room and tell him to let you know when he discovers soap and water. Tell him you'll be waiting with open arms, but not until you can throw away the clothespin.

Dear Ann Landers: I returned from overseas duty last week to find my mother and dad talking about a divorce. After 24 years together my mother has decided she can "do better". I'm sick at heart and feel she's making a terrible mistake.

There doesn't seem to be much chance of talking her into staying with my father, but I need your advice on how to approach the Big Request.

I plan to be married within the next three months. My girls's parents are very strait-laced people and I know they will view my folks' divorce with horror. Do I have the right to ask my mother to hold off the divorce proceedings until after we are married? Advise me at once, please. I will do as you say.—BUCKEYE

You bet you have the right—and hop to it. If your mother could put up with your dad for 24 years, she should be able to stand him another three months.

Maybe when she witnesses your wedding ceremony with your dad at her side it will remind her of the promises she once made and cause her to reconsider.

Dear Ann: Last summer I dated this boy whom I shall refer to as "Mr. X". We saw each other steadily for three weeks and then suddenly poof — he disappeared from sight without a word. He didn't even phone to say goodbye when he left for college.

He will be home next week and I'm sure to run into him as we have a great many mutual friends. How shall I act when I see him? Shall I ask for an explanation? Do you think I have a right to know why he dropped me so suddenly?

I'm terribly fond of this fellow and dying to know the reasons behind his mysterious behavior. Please advise me at once. I don't want to make a jackass out of myself.—MISS BEE

When you run into this fellow, be friendly and pleasant. Don't press him for an explanation. In fact why even let him know you felt "dropped"? If he has a reason for his strange behavior he'll volunteer the information, when and if he wants to. If not, cornering him will serve no purpose except to embarrass him. And from then on, he'll run like a thief when he sees you coming.

One of the most difficult lessons for young people to learn (and old people, too, for that matter) is the "strength of indifference."

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing, with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

MILD SLAP AT COURT

States' Rights Bill Is Shelved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Friday shelved a broad House-approved states' rights bill and voted 8-4 for a milder legislative slap at recent Supreme Court decisions.

The committee approved a measure by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) to uphold state anti-subversive laws even if they cover the same area as federal statutes.

This was similar to one section of a double-barreled bill which passed the House July 17 by a 241-155 vote.

The provision grew out of the Supreme Court's reversal of the Pennsylvania conviction of Steve Nelson as a Communist leader. The high court held that federal laws took precedence over state statutes in the matter.

Sidetrack Provision

However, the Senate committee sidetracked a more far-reaching House provision. It would state that no federal act could be interpreted as excluding state laws on the same subject unless the act said so specifically or there was "a direct and positive conflict" which could not be reconciled.

Before approving the Bridges bill, the committee agreed to a stipulation by Sen. John Carroll (D-Colo.) that the group would not offer the House bill as an amendment to its own measure on the Senate floor.

Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) said he would try to get Senate action on the bill before adjournment, now expected about Aug. 16.

Eastland also told newsmen the agreement would not bar any individual committee member from asking the Senate to adopt the House bill as an amendment to the Bridges proposal.

Committee Amends Bill

The Bridges bill was amended by the committee, he said, to keep it from being retroactive. He noted that the statute of limitations had expired on most cases where federal law was held to have pre-empted state law after the Nelson decision.

Approval of the watered-down version, it was learned, was aimed at improving the legislation's changes in the Senate. The Justice Department approved the anti subversion provision but opposed the broader one.

When the House cleared the measure, there wre conflicting claims by backers and foes as to whether the Senate would take it up and whether President Eisenhower would veto it if it reached his desk.

The bill as originally sponsored by Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) of the House Rules Committee was restricted to the provision which was pigeonholed by the Senate Committee. The anti-subversion section was added to the bill on the House floor.

POLICE BLOTTER

$5.13 WORTH OF GAS

Police arrested two men today charged with theft of $5.13 worth of gasoline at a local service station.

Jesse Cole, 19, Weatherford, Okla. and James Louis Hartley, 32, Los Angeles, Calif., were placed in city jail late yesterday afternoon after their apprehension by the Morehouse Sheriff's Department.

Local police said the two drove into a service station here, ordered gasoline and then drove off without paying. A warrant was issued for them and they were picked up about four hours later near Bastrop.

SWIPED A MELON

Ouachita Parish Sheriff Department ofifcials yesterday announced the arrest of Glenn Awls, 17, charged with theft of watermelons and a battery.

Authorities said Awls was arrested along with four other juveniles whose ages ranged from 13 to 16. Awls was thought to be under 17 and was turned over with the others to juvenile authorities.

The sheriff's department subsequently found Awls was not a juvenile and placed him under $250 bond. The alleged thefts occurred near Calhoun July 18 and 19. Awls is now in the parish jail.

SEARCH FOR BURGLAR

Monroe police are looking for a burglar who broke into the home of Catherine Otis, 1301 Griffin St. last night and took a suitcase and a footlocker containing clothes valued at over $300.

Police Chief James C. Kelly said an early arrest is expected in the case.

ARREST THREE

Three Negroes were arrested here yesterday by local police and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and aggravated battery. Bond for each was set at $360.

Police records showed Lawrence Wilson, 36, 13 Tony Alley, Oliver Page, 40, 413 Thirteenth St., and Levi Gilliam, 21, 1110½ Rear Washington St. were booked on the charges.

Negro Escapes Serious Injury

A Negro man was being held in Wright-Bendel Clinic last night for observation after he fell 25 feet from a scaffold.

Wilbert Williams, South Seventeenth St., Monroe, was roofing a section of Bayles Fish Market on the river levee in West Monroe when he fell from a scaffold and landed on his back.

Williams said X-rays indicated no bones were broken and he was "just shook up some." Williams was rushed to the hospital by a Hixson Brothers ambulance.

ON FAR SIDE

Rocket To Take Photos Of Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's space boss said Friday this country's first rocket shot to the moon will be designed to get photographs of the far side of earth's natural satellite.

Roy W. Johnson, who heads the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA), added that a later instrument-carrying rocket robot will be designed to achieve a "soft landing" on the moon 238,000 miles away.

Johnson said in a radio interview (Mutual-Capital Assignment) recent reports that the first moon rocket would be blasted aloft this month "might prove to be optimistic."

But he said the lunar experiments "certainly" will be carried out this year.

Johnson's comments confirm that Navy scientists have succeeded in developing a TV-type "scanning device" for photographing and transmitting to earth a picture of the side of the moon which never has been seen by man.

The moon rotates slowly — once every 27.3 days—and always presents the same face to the earth. Johnson said the first lunar rocket will seek to measure the moon's gravity and its magnetic field.

In discussing Russia's satellite program, the ARPA chief said he did not believe the Russians ever intended to return their satellite dog Laika to earth.

He also dismissed as idle boasting a Soviet claim that Russians will be on the moon to greet this country's first space travelers.

He said, however, that such boasts show the Russians have great national pride in their space program, and that this is something Americans might well copy.

Johnson, former General Electric executive, predicted it will take "several" years to achieve manned space flight.

He refused to forecast whether manned flight will be achieved first as a military or as a civilian project, but said ARPA will work closely with the new civilian space agency just authorized by Congress.

Man Injured When Walks Into Vehicle

A 78-year-old Monroe man suffered a broken collar bone and scalp lacerations when he walked into the side of a moving auto-said.

Peter Corrent, 2208 Gordon Avenue, was being held for treatment at St. Francis Hospital after being rushed there by a Mulhearn ambulance. Police said the driver of the car, Mattie T. Warner, 124 Malvern St., was going south on Lee Ave. and attempted to avoid Corrent.

Police termed the accident unavoidable and no charges were filed.

Councilmen In W. Monroe Get Raise

West Monroe city councilmen also were included in the recent general pay increases, it was brought out yesterday.

The pay raise went from $50 monthly to $100 monthly.

Receiving raises were principal City Hall officials, policemen and firemen.

Mayor J. Allan Norris has said the pay boost will be taken care of through the recent increase in West Monroe water rates.

West Monroe council members include L. K. Heard, A. P. Burkett, Ben Farmer, R. C. Jolissaint and C. E. Ponder.

74 Permits Issued Here For Building

Seventy-four building permits with a total value of $625,538.00 were issued by John E. Zufall, Monroe building inspector, during July. This was almost a $150,000 increase over June, but showed a decline from the $819,379.00 total of July, 1957.

In June, 58 permits at a total value of $480,599.00 were issued, with the largest item listed as 28 dwellings, with estimated cost $312,150.

In July one year ago, 68 building permits for construction costing $819,379.00 were obtained. Leading the list were 28 dwellings at $315,218.00. Other large items were one vocational school, $204,490.00; 11 additions and alterations to non-residences at a cost of $156,361.00 and construction of a church at $75,000.

Two bowling alleys with permits for $300,000.00 worth of construction made up the largest single amount in last month's total.

Next in line were 26 new dwellings, total $248,478.00. Permits for $36,190.00 worth of alterations on 34 homes were issued, and owners obtained permits to add five store rooms and garages, at an estimated construction cost of $19,372.00.

One building permit for a church was issued, with cost set at $6,000.00. In addition, permits were issued for one shower room, cost $3,500.00; one cleaning and pressing shop, $1,500.00 estimated cost; one lodge room, cost $500.00; one addition to an ice cream parlor, $400.00; and one filling station, $200.00.

Five buildings were demolished and six were moved.

A magnificent Southern magnolia grows near the South Portico of the White House in Washington. It was planted there by President Andrew Jackson in honor of his wife, Rachel.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Group Fails To Agree On Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A joint conference committee failed to reach agreement on any major point Friday in efforts to resolve differences between Senate and House versions of the reciprocal trade bill.

The conferees will meet again Monday afternoon, with every indication that the members will agree on a compromise at that time. Some members previously were hopeful they would reach an agreement at a single session.

There appeared to be a good chance for a compromise that would extend the trade program for another four years and give the President time to negotiate tariff cuts of up to 20 per cent.

Such an extension would be the longest ever granted by Congress since the tariff-cutting program went into effect 24 years ago. Since then, the trade program has been extended 10 times by Congress but never for more than a three-year period.

The last extension of the program expired on July 1.

As passed by the House, the bill would grant President Eisenhower's request for a five year extension of the program, with the President permitted to cut tariffs by as much as 25 per cent.

Bees Attack 4 Officers At Accident

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Four officers sent to the scene of an automobile accident were attacked and stung by bees whose hive had been disturbed Thursday night.

The most seriously stung was a suburban Inkster policeman, Earl A. Brzezinski, who received multiple strings. Three Wayne County sheriff's deputies with him were less severely injured.

A car driven by Robert Skrzycki, 19, of Inkster, rammed a tree and overturned. The officers lifted the injured youth from his car and placed him on the ground. Skrzycki began to scream. He had been put on the bee hive. The bees then stung the officers.

Brzezinski and Skrzycki got hospital treatment for stings. Skrzycki was kept for treatment of back injuries.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness.. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving.

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

He Was Being Held Prisoner

WESTBROOK, Minn. (AP)—As Cal Hager and Kenneth Hanson were uncrating a hay rake at an implement firm here, they found these words scrawled in pencil on a board: "Help! I'm being held prisoner."

They decided it was no hoax. The hay rake had been manufactured by inmates at the Minnesota State Prison.

3 Perish In Austria Flood

KLAGENFURT, Austria (AP)—A cloudburst in the mountains sent torrents of water pouring down on three unsuspecting lakeside resort towns near here Thursday night. At least three persons perished and several dozen were injured.

Many tourists lost all their belongings. No rain fell in the towns and the torrents rushing down from the mountains [illegible] Millstatt caught the vacation-jammed villa[illegible]

LAY-IT-ON-THE-LINE

Solons Applaud Ike Summit Note

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional leaders Friday vigorously applauded President Eisenhower's new lay-it-on-the-line summit note to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said the President had "grabbed the initiative and is now running with the ball." He said Eisenhower's "new positive approach will meet with favor through the world and bring strong support from both sides of Congress and from the American people."

Senate GOP Policy Chairman Styles Bridges (N.H.) said the President's letter "is in plain, understandable language, and that is the only way to talk to Khrushchev."

Positive Approach

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) another Foreign Relations Committee member, joined Mansfield in praising Eisenhower's "positive approach" to the summit issue.

"One thing I have regretted is the impression that we are being dragged into a summit conference," Sparkman said.

Aassistant Secretary of State William B. Macomber discussed the Eisenhower letter with senators at their daily briefing on the Middle East situation.

Chairman Theodore F. Green D-R.I. of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the President "has wisely reminded Mr. Khrushchev of two fundamentals of international political life which the Russians and we long ago pledged ourselves to support.

Agreed To U.N. Role

"We both agreed to confer on the United Nations Security Council primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security", Green said. "Mr. Khrushchev's proposal that the big powers alone settle the Lebanon situation dergated from that principle.

"The permanent members of the Security Council also agreed to safeguards to that the interests of small countries, as well as large, would not be disregarded," he said.

Sen. Joseph C. Clark (D-Pa.) criticized State Department officials for saying the United States was not prepared for a summit meeting. If it is not, Clark said, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles should stay home and not attend a forthcoming conference in South America.

Clark said he was sorry the department was taking the position that the United States is not in favor of a private meeting "to work out the problems dividing us and Soviet Russia."

Says Sigler Quit Due To Probe Threat

PINEVILLE, La. (AP) — Maurice Sigler resigned as warden of the state penitentiary rather than face an investigation, the chairman of a state board of institutions subcommittee said Friday.

E. A. Lee of Natchitoches, chairman of the subcommittee, said Sigler refused the investigation on grounds it would entail considerable expense and loss of time to the board.

His group, Lee said, had a meeting with Gov. Earl Long on the eve of Sigler's resignation. Lee said the governor told the committee "he had no recommendations to make, that he had explicit confidence in the judgment of the board and would back us in anything we desire to do."

Dr. G. Earl Guinn, chairman of the Institutions Board, said the procedure leading up to Sigler's resignation was handled properly by the board.

E. R. Anderson, director of the Department of Institutions, said on July 14 an employe at Angola divulged information to him regarding relations between Sigler and former Bourbon Street stripper Penny Kent, who critics say received special treatment from Sigler. Anderson did not elaborate on the information he received.

Guinn said Sigler's decision came after a five-minute private session between Sigler and Lee. Guinn also said the board has never heard of the charges against Sigler, but added it was prepared to call witnesses in the case.

Sigler said over a New Orleans television station last Sunday he resigned because of insinuations. He denied any special treatment was given the Kent woman. He said he has a job waiting for him in Florida at one of the state institutions.

2 Shreveporters Essay Winners

RUSTON (Special) Two Shreveport students of Louisiana Tech are among the winners in an international essay contest sponsored by the Intercollegiate Assn. for the Study of the Alcohol Problem.

They are Robert G. Meece, winner of a fourth - place prize, and William E. Hilburn, who received a fifth - place award.

Four fourth - place awards were made, each including $25 in cash, a $30 scholarship and a grant of $35 for travel to the Intercollegiate School of Alcohol Studies at Waterloo, Ontario, to be conducted Aug. 23-28.

Ten fifth - place honors included $15 in cash and a scholarship of $30 each.

Several weeks ago, announcement was made that another Tech student, Catherine Kendall of Clay had won second place in this writing contest. She will receive $100 in cash, a $30 scholarship and a $35 travel grant to Waterloo.

Students of the United States and Canada competed in the contest, with the topic being "Motivation for Drinking." The Tech students wrote their essays as a project of an English class taught by Dr. Frances Fletcher.

Grants in this competition are known as the Roberts Awards. They are made possible by a foundation established by the late Logan Hall Roberts of Yakima, Wash., who was a lawyer and civic leader of the northwest.

ELLENDER SAYS

Closing Of Ft. Polk May Be Unnecessary

WASHINGTON, — Send Allen J. Ellender, (D) La., said Friday that the addition of an extra hundred million dollars to the Senate's recently-passed military appropriation bill should mak closing of Ft. Polk unnecessary.

Ellender said that the Senate appropriations committee, which added the funds, specifically stated that Army strength should be increased from a proposed 870,000 to 900,000 men.

"Since funds to sustain that increase are provided," Ellender said, "it should sot be necessary for the Department of Defense to make any more plans directed at the closing or reduction in size of Ft. Polk.

He added: "In the training of such an Army, and in the maintenance of our vital military strength, the facilities at Ft. Polk—including some seven million acres of maneuver area—are urgently needed."

Besides the action of the Senate committee, of which Ellender is a member, the House passed a resolution affirming that the size of the Army should not drop below 900,000.

Ellender stated that President Eisenhower's original money request for the current fiscal year "would have imposed severe strength reductions upon the ground services."

He said, "Congress has acted. The necessary money will be available. It is now up to our military leaders, including the President, to see that the tools Congress has provided are properly used."

Cheerfully Pays $26.30 Tab For Meal

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Walter Charles Spese hadn't seen anything like it in all his years as a waiter.

One of his early customers today ate two steaks, and one order each of lamb chops, pork chops, breaded pork tenderloin and prime ribs of beef. Then two pieces of cherry pie, one slice of chocolate cake a la mode, and a chocolate sundae.

He drank four bottles of milk, two glasses of lemonade, one glass of orange juice and a pot of tea.

Sandy Patterson, 37, of Boston, cheerfully paid the $26.30 tab and said he had enjoyed the meal. Patterson, a discus thrower who took second place in the Central AAU track meet Thursday night, stands 5 feet 7, weighs 228.

"He told me he only eats one meal a day," said the 60-year-old Spese. "But, what a meal!"

Double Services To Southside With Power Line

Power service to the south side of Monroe was more than doubled yesterday, with completion of a new 27KV double circuit overhead transmission line from the new power plant on Park Avenue to the Texas Avenue substation.

French L. Smith, chairman of the Utilities Commission, and Tom Underwood, commission manager, announced that the power line will transmit up to 30,000 kilowatts of power to the south side.

"This is over and above the present capacity of 13,000 volts in the existing transmission circuits," Smith pointed out.

Work on the new power line was begun six weeks ago.

Construction is also underway on the new substation located on Texas Avenue.

Arrest Husband For Attempting To Shoot Wife

E. G. Lucky, a Monroe man, was arrested by the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department yesterday and charged with attempting to murder his wife.

Lodged in the Parish jail, Lucky is under a total of $3,500.

Lucky, 217 Plum St., Monroe, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his wife. Mrs. Lucky told authorities Lucky shot at her as she ran out of the house following an argument. She also said he threatened to kill her.

The bullet smashed the television set.

A recent ordinance provides for a $10 fine for supermarket owners in Kenilworth, N. J., whose shopping carts are found abandoned in the streets.

EAST BOSTON CO.

SEC Plans New Goldfine Action

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Securities & Exchange Commission has notified Bernard Goldfine it plans to take "appropriate" new action against his East Boston Co. for failing to file a required financial report this year, it was learned Friday.

An SEC official reported that the Boston firm had not filed an annual report on its finances for the year ended last March 31. The report was due July 29, the official said.

Goldfine, a millionaire textile and real estate tycoon and close friend of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, is facing contempt action stemming from a House investigation of whether he had obtained special favors from federal agencies.

Part of the inquiry involved Adams' role in past SEC action against Goldfine for East Boston's failure to file annual reports over an eight-year period.

The agency had obtained a federal court order on July 13, 1955, directing the company to comply with SEC filing regulations. The court later fined the firm $20,000 but subsequently reduced this to $3,000 to cover SEC costs in the proceedings.

It was not immediately learned what the SEC planned to do in the current situation. Thomas Meeker, SEC general counsel, sent a letter to the East Boston Co. Thursday stating that there would be "appropriate action."

An SEC spokesman said that in the current case, Goldfine's company had not asked the government for an extension of time to file the report.

The filing deadline expired only three days ago but the SEC formally swung into action Thursday, apparently with much more speed than in the original eight cases against the Goldfine company dating back to the late 40's.

The House Commerce Committee Thursday backed up its influence investigating subcommittee by sending a contempt citation against Goldfine to the House floor for final approval.

Two School Boards Get Petitions

MANNING, S.C. (AP) — Two school boards in Clarendon County announced Friday they had received petitions from Negroes asking that the school districts be reorganized on a "non-discriminatory basis."

The petition, a request for integrated schools, apparently is the opening step in all out court action.

The school districts involved are No. 2, Manning, and No. 3, East Clarendon.

School officials, in a brief announcement, said they received the petitions Monday (July 28) from "certain persons who represented themselves as parents of children attending schools in the districts."

A similar petition involving school district No. 1, Summerton, several years ago was the first step in one of the five cases making up the U.S. Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling in May, 1954. The Summerton district, however, still maintains segregated schools.

The petitions announced today asked school authorities to "take immediate steps to reorganize the public schools under your jurisdiction on a non-discriminatory basis."

School authorities said they had taken the petitions under advisement and would answer them at a later date.

Supt. W. H. Weldon and board chairman Harry L. Harvin of the Manning district and Supt. F. E. Dubose and board chairman Ray Coker of the East Clarendon district announced receipt of the petitions.

Few Letters Show Errors In New Rates

"Very few" letters were mailed with incorrect postage in Monroe yesterday, as the new postal rate schedule went into effect.

R. E. Ellington, assistant Monroe postmaster, noted late yesterday afternoon that most of the letters which were sent out either air mail or regular mail had the proper amount of postage on them.

"We had a few with the wrong postage — but generally, the letters were sent out with the correct amount of stamps on them. We're very pleased with the cooperation and general response of the public," Ellington stated.

A Thief Among Party-Goers

LONDON (UPI)—Someone stole the Duke of Edinburgh's personal standard early Friday at a party.

It was a gay charity affair with free champagne given by the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk that ended at about 4 a.m.

The Duke of Edinburgh was a guest of honor and his personal standard was placed in the keep of Arundel Castle, the strongest and most secure part of the structure. But it was missing when the Duke decided to go home.

A spokesman for Norfolk said the host was "exceedingly angry" at his guests.

LAMPPOST IN MIDDLE

LONDON (UPI) — Anthony Wood, 27, and Ernest Taylor, 31, made a break from the Darlington police station. In front of the station, they dashed on either side of a lamppost and right into a scene from old fashioned slapstick comedy—they were handcuffed together. They unwound themselves from the lamppost in time to elude pursuers, however.

SUBVERSIVE ENTERTAINERS

BERLIN (UPI)—Entertainers, from acrobats to ventriloquists, must get Culture Ministry licenses under an East German law that went into effect Friday. Article II of the law states that entertainers must combine art and politics so that their acts correspond to the cultural and political demands of our workers' and farmers' state."
